WORLD PEACE PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN

GERMAN JEWS SEEKING UNITY IN FEDERATION

BASIS OF EXISTENCE NARROWS UNDER NAZI REGIME

Berlin, July 28 (AP)—German Jews today formed a united front in an effort to deal more effectively with the problem of emigration from Nazi Germany.

Formation of a federation of Jews to constitute their official representation in dealings with the government was announced in the weekly Central Verein Zeitung, organ of German Jewry.

Rabbi Leo Baeck, chief rabbi of Berlin, was named president of the organization which united all Jewish societies at a time when international effort is being made to assist emigration from Germany.

Transplanting Studied

There are some 300,000 Jews in Germany, including those of absorbed Austria. George Brandt, official United States refugee obsherver, is here surveying possibilities for transplanting some of them to other countries.

In a brief appeal published by the Jewish weekly, the new federation said:

"Tasks of the most serious nature lie before us. x x x Against all adversity we posed our trust in God and our self-confidence. x x x There can be no doubt, however, that the continued extraordinary call upon our resources has limits. The basis of our existence has been narrowing constantly.

Passports Hard to Get

"Eliminations from callings and business subjects the greatest part of Jews in Germany to enduring unemployment. We therefore are entitled to look for assistance. x x x We are not unmindful that the brethern in other countries too have serious difficulties. But we may, after all, expect one thing that can be given us: The opening of frontiers for regulated immigration."

Jewish circles frequently have complained that difficulties were put in the way of emigration by passport offices. In this connection Austrian Jewish sources have stated that 2,980 Austrian Jews have emigrated with the aid of other Jews since the March 13 anschluss.

They added that emigration would be faster if conditions for leaving Germany were lighter and simpler.

The Jew in Germany is down—stripped of whatever political power, social prestige or cultural influence he might have enjoyed in pre-Hitler days—but he is not out of the German scene. Those that have left Germany still total less than 150,000, Jews estimate.

Some Making Living

In business the Jew is being eliminated more gradually than in other fields. One by one the big Jewish department stores are passing into "Aryan" hands. But many Jews are in business, especially in the smaller establishments, while in the medical and dental professions many Jews are still making a living.

Sometimes the foreigner new to Germany is surprised to find so many Jews at work. Without con-

Fitzgerald Lashes Welfare Setup In Speech At The Soo

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 28. (AP)—Former Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald told the State Association of Supervisors and County Poor Superintendents here tonight that welfare reorganization measures enacted by the last legislature should be "voted out of existence" at the November election.

"Then," he said, "in the next legislature we can start over again toward the original goal x x x of welfare administered by those in the best position to know the facts."

Fitzgerald, who seeks the Republican nomination for governor at the September primary, declared that "new dealism is becoming more and more a symbol of centralization; if it is not curbed, local government will become entirely impotent."

Too Much Bureaucracy

"State government has no business attempting to absorb essential local government," he said. "The governing bodies of the counties, townships and municipalities are the eyes and the voice of the people, they must be preserved."

Recalling that, during his term as governor, he appointed a commission to plan consolidations of various governmental agencies, he declared that "there was no idea of having the state absorb the county welfare agencies."

But, he continued, the legislature that convened after he left office, "possibly over-awed by the new deal star which then was riding high, passed measures which followed, in objectionable respects, the pattern of bureaucracy."

Professing to reorganize the welfare set-up for the benefit of all," he said, "they actually provided for shearing local authorities of power, x x x

Change Is Expected

"Under the laws now in controversy, the welfare authorities at the capital prescribe the rules and you must follow them. How do they know what rules would best apply in your community? Counties are unable properly to budget their welfare needs because they do not know how much they will get.

"It is likely that the next legislature will consider a formula, similar to that applied to school fund disbursements, which will meet needs fairly, and assure local welfare administrators of definite amounts. Then you can have something to say about your own welfare problems."

Tonight's banquet featured the convention, which will adjourn tomorrow after the election of officers.

DISPUTES DELAY HEARING IN UAW

Little Progress Made In Four Days Behind Closed Doors

Detroit, July 28 (AP)—The trial by which President Homer Martin seeks to remove four suspended vice prseidents from the CIO United Automobile Workers slowed nearly to a standstill today because of frequent disputes.

Martin, who has charged the four with a Communist conspiracy to disrupt the union, contended his opponents were "trying to filibuster."

Maurice Sugar, attorney for the suspended group, replied that Martin and his aides were using specious objections to suppress discussion that might embarrass them.

A blond woman, modishly dressed, whose identity was withheld, was called to the rom where the executive board is conducting the trial today, to relate what Martin said was a "deal with Dick Frankensteen" to turn control of Labor's Non-Partisan League in Wayne county over to the Communist party.

Martin declined to name the woman, but said she was a former Communist party member who heard details of the "deal" at a party meeting.

In four days the board has made little progress, in its session behind closed doors, toward a decision on the charges against Richard T. Frankensteen, Wyndham Mortimer, Ed Hall and Walter N. Wells.

Cedarville Citizen Found Dead In Car

St. Ignace, Mich., July 28. (AP)—The body of Vernon W. Hossack, 41, Cedarville merchant and former member of the Mackinac county tax commission, was found today in his automobile on the outskirts of Cedarville.

Justice Harold L. Dettman, acting St. Ignace coroner, declared the death a suicide. A revolver lay on the seat near the body.

Starring: Sinclair Lewis

Appearing in the Cohasset, Mass., town hall in a summer theater's drama version of his anti-Fascist novel, "It Can't Happen Here," Sinclair Lewis, famous American novelist, made his professional stage debut in the role of "Doremus Jessup," salty Vermont editor around whom the novel and play revolve. The photo shows Lewis in character as Jessup. His performance drew seven curtain calls from an enthusiastic audience and a curtain speech from Novelist Lewis, who said, "Let's not have it happen here."

British Ship Caught In Spanish Bombing

Hendaye, France (at the Spanish Frontier), July 28 (AP)—The Spanish government's South Catalonia army was reported tonight to have pushed around and beyond Gandesa and well along the road to Alcaniz.

The day of war also brought an insurgent aerial bombardment of Valencia in which 18 persons, including a Danish non-intervention observer and a Chinese cook aboard the British freighter Kellwyn, were killed.

The Kellwyn, just arrived from Marseille, France, to discharge a cargo of sugar and coffee, was only slightly damaged. One hundred and fifteen bombs, in all, were said to have been unloaded over the populous Mediterranean port city.

A similar attack on Tarragona caused widespread damage but the number of casualties was not known.

The government did not claim actual occupation of Gandesa, Generalissimo Francisco Franco's regional headquarters and a link between the insurgent Catalonian and Mediterranean fronts but it lay within about 200 square miles of territory regained from the insurgents by the four-day Ebro river offensive.

Reports from Barcelona said the government's counter-conquest had covered 240 square miles but other advices reaching Hendaye added the gains up to 193 square miles.

Estimates of the number of prisoners taken ranged between 5,000 and 6,000.

So much war material was said to have been abandoned by the surprised insurgents that the rout was compared to defeat of Franco's Italian forces on the Madrid-Guadalajara front in March.

SOVIETS CHASE JAPANESE SPIES

Siberian Paper Reports Purge to Smoke Out Terrorists

Boscow, July 28 (AP)—The Siberian newspaper, Pacific Ocean Star, tells of a "great purge" in the Soviet Russian Far East to frustrate what the newspaper terms Japan's efforts "to destroy our strength from the inside."

"In the past few months a great purge was carried on, and it still continues," the newspaper says. "The Bolshevists of Primorsk province will smoke from their holes all spies, wreckers and terrorists to the last man."

The newspaper, published at Khabarovsk, near the scene of recent border incidents between red soldiers and detachments of the Japanese army of occupation in Manchoukuo, says the purge was started "on the initiative" of Joseph Stalin, secretary general of the Russian Communist party.

"If Japanese rabble poke their noses into Primorsk province they have only themselves to blame for the consequences. They will be scattered by a hurricane of fire from the air, sea and land."

The newspaper declares the purge was necessary because "Japanese imperialists resorted to their favorite methods of espionage and terrorism—first sending to Primorsk province Fascist agents and Trotskyist and Bucharinist spies and terrorists.

Negaunee, Mich., July 28 (AP)—A few minutes after he suffered a heart attack, Edward C. Mager, 26, dropped dead on the lawn of the Negaunee high school tonight.

Railway Line Bombed By Japs; American Mission Is Damaged

Shanghai, July 29 (Friday) (AP)—Two columns of Japanese infantrymen, struggling to keep pace with Japanese marines in their drive up the Hangtze toward Hankow, were engaged today in a broad movement to flank the Chinese line at the Tienkiachen-Wusueh boom.

Meanwhile, Japanese planes continued terrific bombardments of the new line of defense, centered on the submerged Yangtze barricade upriver from fallen Kiukiang and about 110 miles from Hankow.

The big bombers assaulted a railroad running from Kiukiang, 90 miles south, to the principal Chinese air base, Nanchang. Part of the railway parallels the Chinese line. The airmen also attacked the Canton-Hankow railway, a defense "lifeline" for the cluster of Wuhan cities, Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang.

(The American consulate general at Hankow was informed that mission property of the Reformed Church in the United States was slightly damaged Wednesday in an aerial bombardment of Yochow Hunan province.

(The Hankow report said American missionaries at Yochow escaped injury but many Chinese were killed when a railway station and many houses were struck. Yochow is about 100 miles southeast of Hankow.)

The Japanese reported capture of Taihu, about 50 miles north of Kiukiang, in one phase of the overland drive to flank the Chinese line at Wusueh and Tienkiachen. The Chinese declared they were counter attacking at Taihu.

System Is Evolved To Stop "Shopping" For Federal Funds

Washington, July 28 (AP)—Officials in charge of federal funds for relief and public works established a committee of three today to prevent cities and towns from "shopping around" between government agencies for money.

Secretary Ickes said three WPA representatives had been appointed by WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins to check applications for public works administration funds to prevent any duplication of requests filed with the two agencies.

The new system, he explained, was adopted after Mayor Maurice J. Tobin of Boston turned down a $1,125,000 PWA grant for a new city hall.

Tobin announced he would economize by obtaining funds for improvements to the 76-year-old building, which a former Boston mayor characterized as "dangerous, inadequate and antiquated" in appealing for PWA funds.

Mayor "Discourteous"

The PWA approved the Boston project recently, Ickes said, assuming the city still wanted it.

"We didn't make Boston file this application," Ickes continued. "The city had money to match federal funds, but instead of going ahead with the project Mayor Tobin kicks us in the face."

At his press conference, Ickes called Tobin "discourteous" for failing to reply to two PWA inquiries as to whether the city still wanted the project, originally requested by former Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield in 1935.

Ickes said that "Tobin was going to economize and save money for the taxpayers, and instead of the new city hall which we had been told was falling down, he was going to Harry Hopkins and repair it, refurnish it and shine it up at less expense to Boston, but more expense to the government."

Ickes added "we don't deal with individuals, we deal with communities. We thought that especially in Boston a government is a continuing thing not dependent on an individual official."

TOY AIMS TALK AT 'COMMUNIST'

Immediate Dismissal of Frankensteen By Murphy Demanded

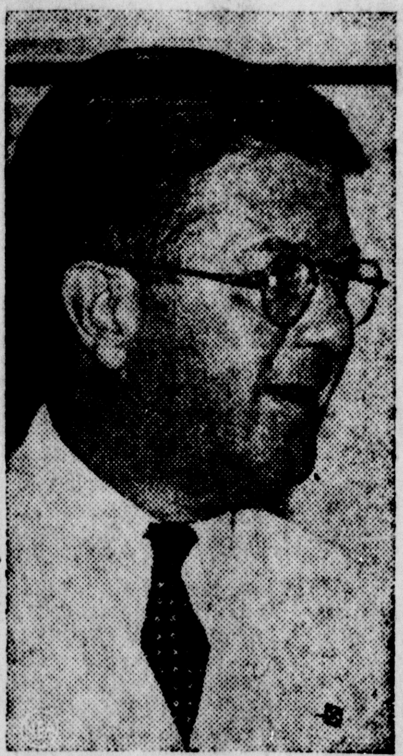
Kalamazoo, Mich., July 28 (AP)—Harry S. Toy, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, demanded in an address prepared for delivery here tonight that Governor Murphy dismiss Richard T. Frankensteen as a member of the state welfare and emergency relief commission.

Frankensteen, appointed to the commission by Governor Murphy, is one of the four vice presidents of the United Autobobile Workers Union now facing trial on charges brought by Homer Martin, UAW president, that they "conspired with Communists" to disrupt the union.

"Let him (Murphy) call for the resignation of Frankensteen from that state welfare board, or dismiss him outright, or, at least, suspend him until there be an official investigation and determination of the (union) charges and let that investigation be out in the open where all of Michigan can see and hear," Toy said.

"This is no time for a hands-off policy on the part of our governor for here is a situation that strikes directly at the general welfare of the people of this state. Here we find a member of the state welfare board embattled with other agitators like himself and the atmosphere that surrounds the whole proceedings is one of direct Communism."

Chief Quizzer



Caught by the candid camera at the Senate Civil Liberties Committee investigation of labor policy of "little steel" companies is Senator Robert M. LaFollette, chief inquisitor. LaFollette's questioning of one company representative led to a laugh when it developed that the witness helped carry Cleveland for LaFollette's father in the 1924 presidential election.

BROWN ENTERS CAMPAIGN BOUT

St. Ignace Congressman Denounces Toy and Praises Murphy

Detroit, July 28 (AP)—U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown, Democrat of St. Ignace, injected himself into the state political fight today with denunciations of Harry S. Toy and Frank D. Fitzgerald, Republican candidates for governor, and praise for Governor Murphy.

Speaking at the American Legion club here to an audience of Democratic leaders and state and federal officials, the senator charged that Toy was guilty of a statement "packed with misrepresentation and deceit" in an address at Adrian in which Toy was reported as saying that Michigan people pay $228,000,000 in federal taxes and get back less than half of the amount.

"No state can be credited with the entire amount of the taxes it pays to the federal government," Senator Brown asserted. "If it could be true, North Carolina would be the second largest taxpaying state, because all the cigaret taxes are reported from there. Does Toy think North Carolina people pay the taxes on all cigarets smoked?

"I charge the Republican candidate for governor with being absolutely unfair when he implies we are not getting our share of federal money and are getting back only half."

He urged former Governor Fitzgerald to "look over the Republican record" for an answer to Fitzgerald's assertion at St. Ignace recently that the Republican party stood for non-partisan administration of the state conservation commission.

The husband and father took the cycling enthusiasts as far as Standish in the family automobile. From that point on they plan to pedal their way to Eagle Harbor, at the northern tip of the Upper Peninsula, and return, with numerous side trips en route.

Handicap To Lakes Shipping Protested By Midwest Groups

Milwaukee, July 28 (AP)—Attorney General O. S. Loomis of Wisconsin asked the United States maritime commission today to order the North Atlantic shipping conference "to remove restrictions and permit free and uninterrupted flow of normal commerce from the Grate Lakes."

Appearing at the final session of a three day hearing into marine needs of midwest harbors, Loomis announced he would file a formal request for an investigation of the conference, a trade association of seaboard navigation companies.

A. P. Zukalosa, chairman of the Detroit port authority, also said he would petition for an investigation of the conference's contracts.

Witnesses at the hearing have accused the conference of compelling midwestern shippers to sign contracts which provide that only ship lines belonging to the conference may carry their imports and exports and that all such shipment must be handled through Atlantic seaboard ports.

Ports Jeopardized

Attorney General Loomis asked that the commission declare such contracts illegal.

Richard F. Malia, of Milwaukee, executive secretary of the Great Lakes Harbor Association, asserted the business methods of the North Atlantic conference have saddled midwest shippers with a freight expense which could be eliminated by water commerce directly from the Great Lakes.

Harry Brockel, secretary of the Milwaukee harbor commission, testified that millions of dollars worth of Great Lakes port facilities had been jeopardized.

F. M. Darr, chief of the traffic section of the maritime commission, told the hearing he doubted whether the commission would approve construction of an American owned Great Lakes-trans-Atlantic fleet unless Americans made a definite showing that they had ample financial backing.

MOTOR STOCKS START UPTURN

Preparations Under Way for Production of 1939 Models

New York, July 28 (AP)—Wall Street put its dollars on automobile stocks today as the motor industry prepared to shift gears for production of 1939 cars.

Darting to the front on a smart rally, which restored much of the ground the market lost on a midweek sell-off, General Motors ran up $2 to finish at $43.75, near the peak it attained recently on the summer upswing. Chrysler closed at $71.75, up $2.37.

The second quarter earnings reports of these two big motor manufacturers, published overnight, were judged in financial quarters better than had been expected generally. Both showed profit gains compared with the first three months, despite slack business.

Also turning the money street's attention on the motor industry, leader of the 1933-37 business recovery, were comment of motor executives on recent improvement in auto retail demand and reports producers were planning to hasten production of new cars to meet the sales improvement.

Motor accessory stocks joined the listed members of the automobile industry's "big three" on the rally. Steels participated, favored by indications of further improvement in steel output in some districts. U. S. Steel finished at $60.50, up $1.50.

HALT IN ARMS RACE IS SEEN AS NEXT STEP

ENGLAND, GERMANY ARE KEY POWERS AS IN 1914

BY J. C. STARK

London, July 28 (AP)—Efforts to rid Europe of her chief menaces to peace were gaining ground today—just 24 years after the first World war declaration.

There were brighter prospects for a halt in the feverish rearmament race.

Today—as in 1914 when Austria-Hungary, backed by Germany, launched a war on Serbia that brought on the general conflict—Britain and Germany are the key powers in the European situation.

A friendly turn in the relations of these two powers bolstered European statemen's hopes of averting a repetition of events of 24 years ago.

Air Pact Hinted

Britain's move to mediate the Czechoslovak minority quarrel—with German consent—promised to lead to broader political talks between the two big powers.

An air pact, limiting armament in this field upon which both nations have been concentrating, was believed in some quarters to be high on the agenda of these negotiations.

Such was hinted by Prime Minister Chamberlain himself when he praised the British-German naval agreement in parliament Tuesday and called it proof that the two countries could reach an understanding on vital problems.

Reports that Captain Fritz Wiedemann, Adolf Hitler's adjutant, was returning to London this week-end to resume talks with Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax he started July 18 led to a belief in some quarters that he was coming to discuss prospects for an air pact.

No Letup Yet

Britain gave new evidence, however, that her present vast rearmament program will not slacken until threatening Spanish civil war and Czechoslovak problems are nearer a solution.

Leslie Hore-Belisha, war secretary, promised faster promotions and other features to attract more men into the army he is revolutionizing.

He announced lower retirement ages and higher retirement pay, estimated to cost an additional $1,800,000 annually in first years of the plan's operation and increase to an extra $3,000,000 a year over 20 to 25 years.

Immediate effect of the changes, which are in line with the foreign secretary's policy of injecting more young blood into the army command, will be the promotion of more than 2,000 officers August 1.

Progress in another phase of Britain's defense program was reported by Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, who promised speedy action on plans for evacuating the civilian population of London and other cities in the event of war.

Night Raids Recalled

For Londoners the worst memories of the Warld war are the night raids, when German planes dropped death from the sky. The worst and last raid was 20 years ago, May 19, when 72 bombs sent 165 to hospitals and 48 to the morgue.

On the diplomatic front, Britain's new armed strength is leading to a bolder course.

Mediation in the Czechoslovak question has been declared entirely unofficial, but observers considered it evidence that Britain is taking a more active part in continental problems.

A stiffened attitude toward both Japan and Italy was seen in parliament speeches this week by Chamberlain and Lord Halifax.

The premier's definition of the settlement necessary to bring a British-Italian pact into force indicated he might demand withdrawal

BAR ASSEMBLY REPORT PASSED

Resolution on Supreme Court Justice Black Is Turned Down

BY LYNN HEINZERLING

Cleveland, July 28 (AP)—The house of delegates of the American Bar Association accepted today the report of its committee on administrative law without a mention of the section which Commissioner Jerome N. Frank of the securities and exchange commission said "defamed" SEC Chairman William O. Douglas.

The assembly rejected today a resolution asking the association to petition the supreme court for information concerning a lawyer's right to question the eligibility of Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black.

James R. Garfield, son of the late president and former secretary of interior, presented the controversial report of the committee on administrative law in the absence of its chairman, Dean Emeritus Roscoe Pound of Harvard law school.

Garfield made no reference to the statement of Commissioner Frank that "this association owes it to itself to see to it that those remarks, which cast a slur on the character of Chairman Douglas, be stricken from the report." He said, however, "there have been criticisms" of the report.

Garfield criticized officers in administrative agencies who develop "an autocratic habit of mind" and said "that attitude develops the kind of bureaucratic and autocratic spirit that has come out of the tribunals of our country."

The delegates adopted the recommendations of the committee appended to the report, but recommitted for further study a proposed bill embodying the committee's ideas concerning administrative boards and judicial review of their decisions.

Missing Cedarville Postmaster Is Back And In Sault Jail

St. Ignace, Mich., July 28 (AP)—Howard Beach, former postmaster at Cedarville, Mackinac county, who had been missing from his home since July 11, returned today and was taken into custody by state police tonight at the request of postal authorities.

State Police Sergt. Robertson of the St. Ignace post said Beach had been taken to the jail at Sault Ste. Marie to be turned over to federal officers tomorrow. Postal officials, he said, had asked that Beach be held for them in case the state police located him.

The state police said they had no charge against Beach, who had been listed as a missing person. Beach is married and has three children. Robert Hamel has been acting postmaster at Cedarville since Monday.

No explanation of Beach's disappearance had been obtained.

Coast Sensations Upset Tennis Dope

Sea Bright, N. J., July 28 (AP)—A pair of unranked coast sensations scored stunning upsets in the 51st annual Sea Bright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club invitation tournament here today as top-seeded Bobby Riggs, of Chicago, led the way into the semi-finals of the grass court classic.

Frank Kovacs, 18-year-old Oakland, Calif., youth, blasted third-seeded Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, of Atlanta, out of the tourney in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, and Elwood T. Cooke, of Portland, Ore., emulated Kovacs by surprising second-seeded Frankie Parker, of Beverly Hills, Calif., 7-5, 6-2.

Riggs gained the round of four by disposing of Robert L. Harman of Oakland, Calif., 1-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Wilmer L. Allison, Austin, Texas, veteran completed the semi-finals bracket when he shattered the Davis cup team aspirations of blond Sidney B. Wood, Jr., of New York, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Thunderstorm Halts Indians And Macks

Cleveland, July 28 (AP)—Cleveland's Indians went three scoreless innings with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics today before a thunderstorm caused the game to be called off.

The Tribe, clinging to second place, didn't get a hit off Edgar Smith, youthful southpaw, in the three stanzas but did receive three walks. The Athletics nicked Denny Galehouse, Tribe hurler, for three singles and two passes.

The rain gave Cleveland the series, two games to none. The Washington Senators invade League Park tomorrow with Johnny Allan, El Harder and Bob Feller scheduled to work in the three-game series.

of all Italian fighters from Spain and even then hold up the agreement unless he were satisfied both Italy and Germany intended to stay out of the Spanish civil war.

Both the premier and foreign secretary bluntly declared—for the benefit of Japan—that Britain has vital interests in China which she is going to protect.

FACES DIFFICULT ODDS

Praha, July 28 (AP)—The Sudeten German party declared tonight in an official press letter that the "cleverage between Czechs and Germans appears no longer bridgeable."

The statement hinted ominously that Viscount Runciman, Britain's unofficial mediator in the Czechoslovak government's dispute with 3,500,000 Germans and other minorities, faced tremendously difficult odds.

The letter declared that it would be unfair to hamper Lord Runciman in his first effort to solve the minorities problems but insisted there was a widening breach between the government and the Germans Adolf Hitler has declared he would protect.

It added that British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, in his Tuesday parliament address announcing Lord Runciman's appointment, brought before the world "unreserved acknowledgement of the Sudeten Germans as a partner in the negotiations.'

In a practical sense, the statement said, this amounted to unofficial recognition of Sudeten Germans as a "staatsvolk" with equal rights instead of as a minority.

Great Britain's traditional policy, it said, was to conclude a compromise.

Five drivers were set down in the first heat of the 18 trot stake because they did not score to the satisfaction of Starter Steve Phillips. Balkan Hanover, Hanover the Great and Bravo each won heats.

Happy With the KruGon Results

Rheumatism Dreadful; Could Not Raise Arms to Her Head, Thought She Had Lost the Use of It Forever

"My entire system underwent a great change with the use of KruGon," said Mrs. James Moray, 1617 Wisconsin Ave., Beloit, Wis. "My right shoulder and arm was badly affected with rheumatism and my arm was so crippled I could not raise it to my head and to lift anything at all was out of the question. I suffered day and night with dreadful pains and thought I would never be able to use my arm again. My bowels did not function properly either, system was filled with poisons and my stomach was badly disordered. But after giving KruGon a short trial it soon convinced me of its outstanding merit."

"KruGon went to the very source of my health troubles and it was almost more than I myself could believe when those awful rheumatic pains began to vanish," continued Mrs. Moray. "Now every ache and pain has been driven from my arms and shoulders. I have full use of my arm again, it is as good as ever. Even my stomach is again functioning properly, eat and sleep good, bowels regulated, and I am feeling well in everyway. KruGon cleansed my body of all its impurities and I would not take anything for the effect it had on my stubborn case."

sciously attempting to defy the anti-Jewish boycott, he finds himself going to a Jewish dentist, having suits made by a Jewish tailor, renting a flat from a Jewish landlord, buying cigarets from a Jewish tobacconist and so on.

All this does not mean the Jew has a chance to be happy in Germany. If no deliberate attempt is made to prevent him from farming at least a bare existence, a very deliberate and sustained effort is made to make him feel out of place and unwelcome in Germany.

Reliable Jewish sources estimate that half of all the Jews will be gone by 1941 and, unless the Nazi regime disappears or changes its racial policy, all will be gone by 1950.

Boy Cyclists Broke Land In Marquette On Wrong-Way Trip

Marquette, Mich., July 28. (AP)—Three Green Bay, Wis., boys, landed in Marquette this afternoon on their bicycles—one disabled with a broken chain which had to be towed 20 miles by the others.

They are Jack Waldorf, 13, Donald Reau, 13, and Jack Reau, 15, his brother. They made the 189-mile trip in 26 hours of actual wheeling, average about 7 1-3 miles per hour. They made a stop with the Reau boys' relatives in Marinette, Wis., the first night, spent last night in a sawmill in Rapid River, Mich., and are the guests of friends here.

They arrived with three blankets, four cans of beans, the crippled bike—and no money. When they will start their return will depend on when Jack Waldorf gets a letter from home with money so he can have his chain repaired.

Another soldier, Pvt. Harry Buckman, drowned soon after the three started the trip.

Half-Year Plates Proving Popular

The decision of Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, to use metal plates, instead of windshield stickers that were made outside the state, has met with universal approval.

Sales for the period ending June 29, 1938, of half year plates have reached 597,689 units as compared to the sale of 437,924 windshield stickers for the same period last year, or an increase in half year licenses of 159,765 units or approximately 40 percent.

The reduction of the rate for farm trucks to fifty cents per hundredweight has proved extremely popular with farmers who use their equipment only part of the year.

Enforcement officers generally recommended the plates instead of the half-year stickers; Michigan being the only state with the half-year license privilege. Michigan residents motoring in other states were frequently stopped and required to explain the stickers. The half-year plates are self-evident.

Half year plates expire August 31, 1938.

Backing Civil Service

SERVICE clubs of Escanaba, Gladstone and Manistique will meet in Escanaba Monday noon to hear a talk by William Brownrigg, director of the Michigan Civil Service commission.

This is the first time that the service clubs of the three cities will be brought together at a joint luncheon meeting. It is a program of cooperation that can be the forerunner of other joint efforts for the betterment of these neighboring communities.

What is particularly significant is that the service clubs, always interested in promoting good government, are following through in their support of the installation of a merit system for state government personnel in Michigan. It is too often the case that organizations will support worthy projects, but quickly forget them after they have been put over. Oftentimes, valuable programs fall to the wayside just because of this inattention on the part of citizens while they are being placed into operation.

Civil service has been established in Michigan, but the politicians are still sniping at it. The system is now going through the dangerous test period, and organizations and individual citizens, interested in its success, must be vigilant in their support of it now.

That this situation is recognized here is attested by the fact that the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs of Escanaba, Gladstone and Manistique are rallying at Escanaba on Monday to learn from Director Brownrigg just what problems the civil service idea is facing. And after having been apprized of these problems, these service clubs undoubtedly will do whatever possible to solve them.

Revival of City Planning

MILLIONS of dollars are being loaned or granted to towns and cities by the National Government for the purpose of internal improvements. This has given added thought to city planning. There is much evidence of its revival and application.

More properly put, cities are replanning or remaking themselves. In the first hectic days of the work-relief program there was little or no effort, and apparently no time, to plan work. Any type of clean-up job was undertaken. Raking leaves was not the least of the program in many localities. Again, there is evidence of a change to a more constructive pattern.

It is singular that unfortunate happenings take men back to unfinished tasks—back to cardinal principles. Proper and adequate city planning appears to be one of the helpful results of the depression. At least this is the consensus of many planning engineers, for it is pointed out that cities are now getting more for the relief money they use. The work program is now a planned program.

City or town planning has been defined as the art and science of arranging beforehand for the extension of towns or cities. The idea is not new, but one that has been somewhat neglected. In America, as compared with many other countries, that neglect has been outstanding, regrettable as it is. This neglect has been costly.

City or town planning in previous ages was much influenced by religion, defence, and centralized government. Because many cities of the Old World had to be surrounded by walls and placed in a position where they could be defended against enemies, a high elevation was selected and soon became cramped. The beauty or unsightliness of a town may depend upon a combination of circumstances.

In days of prosperity, a city, like the individual, may advance faster than proper blue-printing would allow after more deliberate thought. This rapid advance has worked a detriment in many instances to proper city planning in America.

Many towns and cities in the United States were started in boom times. Landowners sold to anyone wishing to purchase and able to pay the price. There were no building restrictions, and in many instances streets, due to high land values, were narrow. No one foresaw the automobile and the traffic problam it has created. When villages took on a form of permanence, plans for developing had to begin with inadequate layouts. This has resulted in business losses and property devaluation in the older sections of many cities.

Limitation of the heights of buildings is regulated in many cities, but this is not an element of this or the preceding century. In Roman times Augustus sought to check the evils of overcrowding in cities by a decree that no house should exceed seventy feet in height and Trajan reduced this height to sixty feet.

In ancient times, however, there was no effort to rebuild insanitary areas. Slum demolition then, as has been the case many times in America, was effected by extensive fires. Momentarily appearing unfortunate, many cities have ultimately profited by some temporary disaster. London had such an experience in 1666, and in this country the great Chicago fire of 1871 is an example. The latter fire destroyed $196,000,000 worth of property, but a city built of wood was replaced by one of brick and stone. It is often said in jest, but with an element of truth, that what some towns need is a good fire.

Thomas More was ridiculed by many for his Utopia, but that book is the parent of all literature of modern city planning. More saw and recorded the importance of wide streets, open spaces for parks and important buildings. He emphasasized the necessity for planning market places conveniently and for having control over land for expansion. In recent years this control over expansion has been extended in al limportant cities. Commissions are elected or appointed to approve read estate developments, including types of houses to be built, allocating areas for commercial purposes, and the type of commercial activities that may be carried on.

The lack of proper city planning, together with other factors, has given rise in recent years to suburban communities. These developments have helped to lessen the demand for old type structures and added to slum conditions now a major economic and social problem in many communities. This is the problem that is being studied along with remaking or replanning in many cities.

Not a few think that conditions which have forced towns and cities to improve and rebuild will mark the beginning of a revival of city planning, resulting in the saving of millions in property values and the adding to the sum of human happiness.

Dr. John N. Lowe

THE Upper Peninsula lost one of its most enthusiastic boosters when Dr. John N. Lowe, 52, professor of biology of Northern State Teachers College and ardent conservationist, died suddenly at Marquette Wednesday evening.

There were few meetings of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau and other large sportsmen gatherings that were not attended by Dr. Lowe. He also made personal studies over a period of several years of the game and fish situation in various sections of the Upper Peninsula. He had gathered a wealth of information concerning Isle Royale, and was one of the active boosters in the campaign to make the Lake Superior island a national park.

In recent years, he had been teaching courses in conservation at Northern State Teachers College, supplementing the classroom study by frequent trips with his classes out into the field for first-hand observation of various conservation projects. His most recent field trip was to view the private reforestation and wildlife management work at Blaney Park. Several times, he was commissioned by federal and state governments to do special research work on fish and game conditions.

Conservation was Dr. Lowe's chief hobby. Singled - handed, he contributed much to the cause in the Upper Peninsula. The conservation program in this region has lost a good friend.

John Turnbull, former sheriff of Luce county who is again a candidate for the office, is one of those rare individuals who didn't wait to be voted out of office. Two years age he decided he would not seek re-election, giving ill health and the need of a rest as a reason. Now, however, he thinks he is fit as a fiddle again and well able to take over the responsibilities of the officeb Turnbull has a strong following and it will not be surprising if he wins the election.

The Menominee city council wants "Honest Harold" Ickes, secretary of the interior, to set a figure on the distributing plant of the Marinette & Menominee Light & Traction Co., for which Menominee is dickering. The utility wants about $520,000 for the property and the council is offering short of $200,000. The utility and the city have been stalling for months on the power question. Involved in the stalling process is a faction that would prefer to have Menominee erect a sewage disposal plant and forget all about municipal ownership of a power and light system. To one not thoroughly acquainted with Menominee's affairs, the whole setup has an odor of politics.

There will be no running races and pari-mutuel betting machines at the Upper Peninsula State fair in Escanaba this year, despite an earlier announcement to that effect. Instead, lovers of horse flesh will see the usual harness races. Whether right or wrong, those who are pulling hardest for running races will suspect that former State Senator Herb Rushton had something to do with the decision of the fair board to stick to harness races. Rushton is the owner of a horse or two and a great lover of races. But he's a Republican, so how could anyone suspect him?

A man considerably in thes potlight in the last few weeks, even more than his office would ordinarily warrant, will visit Calumet this week end. He is Daniel J. Doherty gained considerable page one space in the newspapers for his neat reply to the Northwestern university professor who said the Legion was, among other things, unpatriotic. He will likely touch on that subject when he visits Calumet.

Addressing the city council of St. Ignace, United State Senator Prentiss M. Brown urged his home town councilmen to take advantage of funds now available through the WPA and construct a new city hall. The senator pledged his support in obtaining federal funds, so it is in the bag, it might be said. For one thing St. Ignace needs only a few thousand dollars of federal money and for another, Senator Brown stands ace high with the administration and probably will have no difficulty in getting approval of a grant for St. Ignace.

Artturi Leinonen, editor in chief of Ilkka, one of the leading newspapers in Finland, made the statement in Ishpeming that the credit system so prevalent in the United States is not popular in Finland. The purchaser of a car, for example, he says, must have the means to pay. If he doesn't have the cash, he must be able to complete the purchase in a short time. A lot of Americans wouldn't like to have such a regulation in force here, but it is sound, nevertheless.

World Affairs Reviewed

Spain's possible political future—under the domination of a victorious Franco—may be glimpsed through the rebel chieftain's public utterances . . . This is the last of three articles in which Milton Bronner has reviewed the career of the man who has conquered two-thirds of Spain during two years of terrible civil warfare.

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

London—If Francisco Franco finally conquers the last one-third of Spain which still is stubbornly resisting his insurgent armies, two vital questions then will arise and the replies will have a tremendous repercussion upon European affairs.

First: What price if any must Franco's Spain pay Hitler and Mussolini for their aid in fighting the war?

Second: What kind of government will Franco give Spain?

In all circles in Europe which believe in democracy, it has been constantly asserted that Hitler has not sent airplanes and technicians and Mussolini has not sent Italian regulars, airmen and material to Franco merely to see that Spain does not remain republican.

Democratic writers have held that Germany wishes to get a grip on the mineral wealth in the north of Spain, that Italy intends to have bases in the Balearic Islands, and that Germany and Italy between them desire bases in Spanish Morocco across from England's Gibraltar. In other words, they would threaten France's communications with her North African possessions from which she draws men and food in war time, and England's free passage through the Mediterranean.

Franco seems to have answered the question categorically in a speech he made on the Aragon front last March 19:

"Not an inch of territory will be detached from Spain for the benefit of a foreign power after our complete victory."

* * *

As to the kind of regime he would give Spain, Franco has veered from point to point. In a speech he made August 10, 1936, barely three weeks after his rebellion had begun, he said:

"Spain is a republic and will remain so. Neither the regime nor the flag will be changed. The only change will be that crime will be replaced by order, acts of banditry by acts of progressive work. The Spanish Army may be compared with a surgeon who is operating to save Spain."

Later, in another speech, he seems to have forgotten all about a republican regime, for he said:

"We will not have Fascism, but will establish a military dictatorship."

Franco already, of course, has built behind his advancing armies a sort of temporary military dictatorship designed to function as long as the civil war lasts.

In Franco's forces there were men who were out and out Fascists and there were others who were monarchists. He succeeded in getting them to settle their differences at least temporarily during the civil war. In April, 1938, celebrating this union, he said at Saragossa:

"The old life—frivolous, comfortable—coffee house table around which Spaniards discussed problems eternally instead of grappling with them—must go. Such habits caused Spain's decadence. A century of impotence showed the time had come for the Spanish National Revolution."

But it was to be on the Portuguese rather than on the Italian model. For hear him again:

"We do not believe in government through the voting booths. The Spanish national will was never freely expressed through the ballot box. In times gone by, first the political bosses, and, later, the tyrannical syndicates (meaning labor organizations) forced the Spanish people to vote according to their whims, giving them orders how they should vote. In the new Spain, the national will is to be expressed corporately through a guild system; the Nuavo Estada in Portugal rather than the Fascismo of Italy is to be our model.

"We promise the Spanish people that no home shall lack a hearth and fire; no worker shall lack bread; everybody shall have work, because those who have more shall give away something for those who have less. Our social justice will be based on brotherly love and on the intimate collaboration of all classes. Our hand will be hard and relentless to establish social justice."

Again: "We are fighting for a state which will be like one great family, without overlords or serfs, plutocrats or proletararians; and in which all the elements that go to make the national wealth will be represented."

New York Column

BY RICHARD HIMBER

New York—Random notes on noted music makers:

Musicians are almost never happy. Awarded accolades for their efforts and presented weekly with fabulous pay checks, they still muse dreamily about earlier, unrealized ambitions.

My first boss in this business, Rudy Vallee, would have liked to be a politician.

The kingpin of all songwriters, Irving Berlin, once confided to a group of us that he would be the happiest composer in the world if he had written "The Rosary."

Many musicians almost had their careers amputated at an early age, too. For instance—

Paul Whiteman was once fired from a Denver band because he "couldn't play jazz."

And when I was practically a kid in knee pants, I remember working in the pit orchestra in Fox's City Theater. A slim, serious chap was the relief pianist and was let out because an actor complained he had no rhythm and didn't know how to play the piano. He was the late George Gershwin—and I wonder what happened to the complaining actor!

Rudy Thrifty

For some time before I went into this baton-waving business on my own, I worked for Rudy Valee, first as a musician, later as his business manager. Rudy has been depicted several times as a slightly tempestuous band leader. That impression is not accurate, entirely. He is an ambitious chap with many definite ideas on showmanship.

But he can take advice — and make use of pertinent suggestions. I was at the Rendezvous Club years ago on a sultry evening in August. Manhattan was a little madder then, and its pace infinitely more hectic. Rudy was supplying dance music there — and singing a chorus or two. Gilda Gray called him over and advised Rudy to get a megaphone because he sang too low to be heard above the din and noise. He did—and parlayed that advice into a million dollars.

The Maestro's Mistake

Tin Pan Alley is laughing at the story about a noted symphonic conductor who succumbed to a fit of pique and fired his first violinist on the spot.

The latter, who had been unmercifully ridden for weeks, was relieved rather than crestfallen at his sudden unemployment. So, at the door, he turned and shouted furiously: "I'm happy to finish with you. You're the most temperamental, inconsiderate Maestro for whom I've ever worked. You're impossible."

Whereupon the maestro turned about frigidly, looked up from his orchestrated sheets, waved a hand airily and said: "I am very sorry—but it is too late for your apologies!"

The Capital Parade

BY ALSOP AND KINTNER

Washington, July 28. — The struggle against fascist penetration in Central and South America is becoming sensationally exciting. The stakes are huge, for, if the fascists win, Nazi Germany will be the predominant influence in many nations to the southward. American resources are small and poorly mobilized. So it is heartening to be able to report that the staid old state Department has just won a handsome victory.

An assault on Haiti was prepared some months ago by German financial interests, presumably with the guidance of the devious Dr. Hjalmar Schacht. The rich, dark island in the Caribbean, at the very back door of the United States, was ready to succumb, Had the German assault been successful, Haiti would have become an economic province of Berlin.

—PREFACE TO ROMANCE—

The story of how the department beat the Germans in Haiti is something of a romance of international finance. To understand it, you must first understand the American status in Haiti.

Haitian finances have been under American control since 1915, when the Haitian government defaulted on its foreign bonds. The control is exercised through a fiscal representative, nominated by the President of the United States and appointed by the president of Haiti. The present fiscal representative is Sidney de La Rue, who makes a profession of supervising the finances of black republics, having managed those of Liberia before he went to Haiti. Able Mr. de La Rue's job is to see that Haitian customs receipts are used to pay off foreign bondholders, and he also has the power to veto any new Haitian bond issues.

All went well in Haiti until the American depression crippled the Haitian export trade. And consequently the Haitian economy. Serious unrest began about two years ago. Looking to the example of the New Deal, the Haitian government thought longingly of spending. A year ago, the unrest had reached a point where the stability of the government was threatened. A $5,000,000 Public Works Program was decided on, and De de La Rue was asked to find the money and approve the bond issue.

—THE GERMAN DANGER—

Even so, there seemed to be nothing really serious in the situation until the Germans stepped in. Mr. de La Rue found the American bankers unenthusiastic over more Haitian bonds. As it happened, there were two German-controlled banking houses, one with branches in London and New York and another with headquarters at Geneva, which had in their possession large quantities of blocked marks. They wished to transmute these into assets outside Germany. They took a different view from the American bankers.

They made a deal in Berlin by which they would have been permitted to purchase German machinery for Haiti with part of the blocked marks, and to exchange the rest for real currency to pay Haitian labor on the Public Works. They put the proposal up to the Haitian government, at the same time demanding such guarantees and privileges as would have given them virtually absolute command of the Island's internal economy.

Mr. de La Rue heard of the danger, called in the State Department, and was sent back to do the Wall Street rounds with the department's heartiest recommendations. And yet, although he made the plea of downright patriotism, and although he could show an excellent recent record of Haitian finance, he could not get the money. The Haitian government began to clamor for an end.

Finally, by the combined ingenuity of Mr. de La Rue and the department, arrangements were made. The J. G. White engineering Co., a big firm doing much government business, was induced to take the Haitian Public Works contract. The Haitian government gave the engineering company its note for $5,000,000. And the engineering company took the note to theExport-Import bank, where it was discounted at par, in return for a promise that American materials would be used exclusively in the new Haitian Public Works.

The arrangement is a remarkable one, for it is tantamount to a loan by the American treasury to Haiti. The Export-Import bank, chartered in the dim dawn of the New Deal to finance American foreign trade, is an agency of the government. Its funds are government funds. And how, by the device of the discount, the bank is using its powers to advance American cash to foreign governments.

Such is the State Department's newest weapon against the totalitarians, which is already being used again in Brazil. In the end, it may cost a few dollars in bad loans. But, if it prevents German penetration in this hemisphere, it will be worth many millions.

A west coast woman who lost her voice a year ago suddenly recovered it the other day. A cynic guessed that her first words were: "Now where was I . . .?"

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

TOGETHER

We'll face the world together,
We'll travel side-by-side,
And spring or wintry weather,
We shall be satisfied.
The morning may be raining.
The heavens may be blue,
But neither hears complaining,
For either one will do.

We'll face the world together,
Together we will go,
It will not matter whether
The high road or the low.
The matter of the weather
We hardly shall recall,
For just to be together
Will matter most of all.

New York, July 28—The University Town meeting, summer series patterned after America's Town meeting, goes into session for its fourth broadcast, the next to the last, in WJZ-NBC broadcasting Friday night. The hour's program opens at 6.

The program will come from the University of Denver, with this subject up for discussion: "What Must the United States Do to Protect Its Transportation Facilities?" Viewpoints of a banker, a railroad man and a professor in economics will be displayed.

Lanny Ross, not so active in broadcasting since his Tuesday night series with Charlie Butterworth ended last winter, will get back at the microphone via WABC-CBS at 7. He is billed for Hollywood Showcase and the Lud Gluskin orchestra. With him will be Gloria Stewart in a scene from their new picture.

Suzanne Silvercruys, sculptress and Belgian World War heroine, is to tell about her recent European tour in an interview with Irene Kuhn for WABC-CBS at 2:30. Also to be interviewed for WABC-CBS at 3:45 is Lieut. Eugene McGillicudy of the New York Police juvenile aid bureau. He and a boy are to chat the question, "So you want to be—a Policeman?"

Instead of concluding last week as was announced by WABC-CBS, the world economic cooperation program continued. It's at 2:45, with Leland Rex Robinson, investment banker and writer, discussing "The Economic and Financial Machinery of the League of Nations."

Two Milwaukee Road Docks to Be Wrecked

The General Wrecking and Lumber company of Chicago has been awarded the contract for tearing down the Milwaukee Road's ore docks Nos. 1 and 2 and removing 12 miles of tracks in the receiving yards.

Bert Graff, member of the wrecking firm, and its engineer, Charles W. Chapman, are expected to arrive here Tuesday to start preliminary work. The contract also calls for the razing of the buildings at the car repair yards, near the Delta county infirmary. The car department suspended operations about a year ago.

Construction of the No. 1 dock was started by the Milwaukee Road in 1900 and was completed in 1902. No. 2 dock was finished in 1905. Until three years ago, the docks were used for handling iron ore brought in by Milwaukee Road trains over the E. & L. S. railway tracks from Channing. Use of the docks was terminated when the Milwaukee Road entered into an agreement with the Chicago and North Western railway for pooling the ore traffic from the Menominee range.

It is estimated that the docks cost almost a million dollars each to build. No. 1 was constructed mostly of white pine timber, and No. 2 with western fir.

George Stoik, Escanaba, was dock agent until he was placed on pension about a year ago. He succeeded Jerry Clifford as agent about twenty years ago. Four watchmen have been employed on the property since the ore traffic was diverted to the North Western docks.

Socialized Medicine

Second in Series of Pro and Con Discussions of National Health Programs

This is the second in a series of five articles discussing "socialized medicine" in the United States and Europe.

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

London—It is a significant coincidence that while the United States is in the midst of controversy over the question of government-sponsored medical care, a forceful campaign is being waged here for even more socialized medicine than Britain has had for the past 27 years.

While the American Medical Association is busy fighting proposals for an $850,000,000 federal health program, the British Medical Association, representing 37,000 qualified professional men, has begun an advertising campaign to extend the existing system still further.

Very nearly every argument now being urged against socialized medicine in the United States was voiced here long ago. Having had opportunity to view first-hand the workings of state health insurance, British physicians generally believe that the system is working well. At a court of inquiry set up by the Ministry of Health to investigate the fees which should go to so-called "panel doctors," the Insurance Acts Committee of the B. M. A. reported:

"In the committee's view, the National Health Insurance system, providing as it does for free choice of doctor and patient and eliminating direct payment to the doctor at the time of sickness, is the best means of providing medical attendance and treatment for the lower-paid workers of the country."

Dr. L. Haden Guest, traveler, author, and member of the House of Commons, who was once a panel doctor, takes issue with any statement that the British system has resulted in depreciation of the quality of medical care.

"In 1935, with millions of calls upon the panel doctors, in only 157 cases was it found necessary to investigate complaints regarding inadequacy of service, and in only 48 were the complaints found justified," Guest said.

B. M. A. HOPES FOR THE FUTURE

Now, the B. M. A. is going still further. It wants the law revised so as to extend the benefits of health insurance to all members of a worker's family—instead of only to the worker as at present. In a pamphlet distributed by thousands, the B. M. A. explains basic principles of its plan as follows:

1. That the system of medical service should be directed to the achievement of positive health health and the prevention of disease no less than to relief of sickness.

2. That there should be provided for every individual the services of a general practitioner or a family doctor of his own choice.

3. That consultants and specialists, laboratory services and all necessary auxiliary services should be available for the individual patient, normally through the agency of the family doctor.

4. That the several parts of the complete medical service should be closely co-ordinated and developed by the application of a planned national health policy.

HOW THE PLAN WORKS IN BRITAIN

The B. M. A. pamphlet urges extension of the service not only to the families of persons now insured under the act, but also to persons over 70 years of age who no longer pay for such insurance; to those in small independent business, and to the dependents of those in the defense services of the nation. In addition, the association proposes that dental and opthalmic services be given free to all insured persons.

Here's how the British health insurance system works as now constituted:

The plan is practically compulsory for all workers with incomes of less than 250 pounds (about $1250) per year. The cash side of the plan is administered by "approved societies," some of which are mutual benefit societies organized prior to insurance.

In the case of males, the worker and employer each pays about 9 cents weekly; the woman worker pays 8 cents and her employer 9 cents weekly. The national treasury contributes a subsidy of one-seventh the cost per male worker and one-fifth the cost for women, which is applied to the cost of administration.

FREE CHOICE OF PHYSICIAN

The insured person can choose his physician from a list of all the doctors in the vicinity who have agreed to provisions of the act. They are known as "panel doctors." The presentation of an insurance card to the panel doctor entitles the insured to a general practitioner's services and free medicine, but not to any surgical, hospital, or specialist care.

The insured worker also is entitled to sickness benefits for a period not exceeding 26 weeks, after which he receives smaller disablement benefits. To qualify for sickness benefits, he must have paid 26 weekly insurance premiums. He cannot receive disablement benefits until he has made 104 insurance payments.

The ordinary sickness benefits are about $3.75 weekly for men, $3 for unmarried women, $2.50 for married women. If a person has been insured for more than 26 weeks but less than 104 weeks, the benefits are reduced to $2.25 for men and $1.87 for all women. The rate of disablement benefits is $1.87 per week for men, $1.50 for unmarried women and widows, and $1.25 for married women.

TALKS IN CASSOPOLIS

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Three young wildcats were captured by Walter J. Hubert, North 18th street, while he was on a berry picking trip in the Hiawatha national forest, north of the Buckeye headquarters camp, on Wednesday.

One wildcat was taken alive when Hubert grabbed the animal with his bare hands and encaged it in a water pail. The two others were killed with a stick. The mother wildcat and four other kittens escaped.

The three wildcats are on display at 116 South 11th street.

Third Guard Added At Beach For Protection

As an added precaution and an attempt to prevent further unfortunate accidents at the local bathing beach, a third life guard has been assigned and restricted areas have been completely roped off.

DEADLINE EXTENDED

The deadline for entering the swimming meet which is to be held at the Ludington park beach at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, has been extended until today at noon.

Programs are to be made up Friday afternoon and swimmers who have not been registered will not appear on the programs.

At the beginning of the present swimming season, the department of parks and recreation added a guard and carefully marked restricted areas on the beach as protective measures for those who were poor swimmers or who could not swim. In spite of these precautions, two persons have lost their lives.

There are no sudden drops within the area surrounded by ropes and signs but the area directly around the diving board is deeper than a person's head in order that the diving board may be utilized. For that reason, only expert swimmers are allowed to enter the enclosure.

This year the number of life guards has been increased to three who are on duty full time from nine until dark, with the exception of lunch hours when two will constantly be on duty. When all three are on duty, they are assigned as follows: one in the guard's tower, one on shore, and one in the boat. One man is to be constantly on duty at the guard's tower. Exceptions to this rule will be made when no one is in the water or when the only bathers are participating in special instructions. At no time of the day will there be less than two guarding the swimmers.

The deep area around the diving board has always beeen marked by signs. In addition to these signs, the shallow area has been completly roped except for a narrow gateway leading to the diving platform. The rope also extends parallel to the beach, making a restricted area which small children and poor swimmers will be required to occupy.

Another ring buoy has been added, making two preservers near at hand in case of an emergency.

Deforestation - - - By Fire

Erupting an 8000-foot high plume of smoke, seen glowering over the hills in the photo above, a destructive forest fire burned a large area of the Hood Canal district of Washington, near Puget Sound. Over 5000 acres of slashings and green trees are estimated to have been destroyed. Farm houses and summer homes are endangered and roads blocked. Stiff breezes and hot, dry weather made the task of scores of fire-fighters difficult.

Questions and Answers on Railway Retirement Law

(The series of questions and answers on the Railway Retirement Act appearing below was compiled by the staff of the Railway Retirement Board to inform employees on the main points of the Act.)

Q. If I am in the service of a local lodge or division of a labor organization, which is an employer under the Act, under what conditions am I an employee under the Act?

A. Only if on or after August 29, 1935, you were in the service of or in an employment relation to a "carrier."

Q. Who are employee representatives under the Act?

A. Any officer or official representative of a railway labor organization, other than a labor organization which is an employer under the Act, who has been authorized to represent employees in accordance with the Railway Labor Act, and who was at some time before or after August 29, 1935, and prior to his employee representative service, in the service of an employer under the Act; and any individual who is regularly assigned to or regularly employed by such an employee representative in connection with the duties of his office.

Q. What is the difference between the 1935 and 1937 Acts with respect to employee representatives who are within the provisions of the Act?

A. The 1935 Act did not include the folowing individuals who are included in the 1937 Act: (1) individuals regularly employed by or regularly assigned to employee representatives for the performance of duties connected with the office of employee representative; (2) individuals who were not in the service of a carrier under the 1935 Act immediately before they began to serve as employee representatives. Individuals who were employee representatives under the 1935 Act but who are officially connected with a railway labor organization, national in scope, are, under the 1937 Act, "employees" of "employers" rather than employee representatives.

Q. Suppose I am general chairman of the X Railroad for the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, am I an employee representative under the 1937 Act?

A. No; you are an employee of an employer. Under the 1935 Act, you were an employee representative.

Q. Suppose I am chairman of a railway labor organization not national in scope, but I am duly authorized to represent employees in accordance with the Railway Labor Act, as amended, what is my status?

A. If you were, at some time prior to your designation as chairman, in the service of an employer under the Act, you would be an employee representative.

Q. If in the case described above and in answer thereto, I regularly employ a clerk to assist me in my duties, what is that clerk's status under the Act?

A. He is an employee representative.

Half-Year Plates Have Record Sale

Lansing, July 27. (AP)—Leon D. Case, secretary of state, reported today that 597,689 half-year auto license plates have been sold this year, compared to 437,924 half-year windshield stickers sold in the same period last year—an increase of almost 40 per cent.

Case said the use of metal plates instead of the stickers had increased sales of the half-year privilege because of their more attractive appearance and because they are accepted without question in states which do not have the half-year license plan.

FREE FERRIES URGED

Iron Mountain—Asserting that he favored free ferry service at the Straits and, if elected, would introduce a bill to that effect, Joseph P. Cloon, of Wakefield, candidate for the Republican nomination of state senator from the thirty-first senatorial district, visited in Iron Mountain today in the interests of his campaign.

Cloon said the ferries were the same as state highways and there should be no toll to use them.

The candidate also added that he believed there should be a decentralization of authority in Lansing, such as transferring more control over relief activities to the local communities, which are in better position to understand local needs.

Bishop to Be Celebrant At Church Ceremonies

On Sunday, August 7, a Solemn Pontifical High Mass of Thanksgiving, with the Most Rev. Joseph C. Plagens, D. D., Bishop of Marquette, as celebrant, will open the two-day observance of the centennial of St. Ignatius church, St. Ignace. Weather permitting, this mass will take place beside the grave of Father Marquette, on the spot, where for two years this celebrated missionary offered mass and preached to his Huron and Ottawa Indians over two and one-half centuries ago.

The original altar of the Old Mission church will be set up on a temporary platform for this outdoor mass. This altar, now in the winter chapel of the present church, is a highly prized relic of the handiwork of the pioneers who started this parish over a century ago. Fashioned and finished by hand out of rough-hewn lumber, it served its purpose in the old church for over sixty years, being then moved to the present church in 1905.

A unique distinction belonging to this parish is the century-old church building, the oldest Catholic church in Michigan, which is still kept in good repair and is being used as a parish center for meetings and social activities. Other relics of the early pioneer days are the old confessional, the vestment case, a chalice as old as the church, a crude device for making altar breads, various candelabra, and the famous painting of St. Ignatius Loyola, founder the Jesuits, who was chosen by Father Marquette as the patron saint of this church. This painting, according to local tradition, was brought to St. Ignace by Father Marquette, transferred to Detroit when the St. Ignace Mission was abandoned, and returned to St. Ignace when the present St. Ignatius parish was established in the fall of 1837. It is certain that it was placed over the high altar when the old church was opened at that time.

A large number of priests have signified their intention of coming to assist in carrying out the ceremonies of the Pontifical High Mass.

Among those who will be present are three monsignori of the diocese of Marquette: Rt. Rev. Henry A. Buchholtz, P. A., vical general; Rt. Rev. Anton J. Rezek, LL., D., and Rt. Rev. Raymond G. Jacques. Present also will be the Rev. Joseph L. Zyrd, D. D., J. C. D., chancellor of the diocese, and Father Frederick Siedenburg, S. J., executive dean of the University of Detroit, who will give the sermon. Father Siedenburg returned to Detroit some months ago after an extensive trip through Russia. He traveled throughout the industrial and rural sections of the Soviet republic and succeeded in keeping his identity a secret. Upon his return he compiled his observations in a very interesting and informative book entitled, "I Saw the Soviet."

Dr. J. Edward Gordon, organist of St. Patrick's church in Chicago, will direct the music and singing of this service. The singing will be done alternately by the senior choir of twenty voices, and a children's choir of one hundred voices, and the congregation. The children's choir will sing the Gloria in Excelsis from the Mass of the Angels, and the congregation will sing a Latin offertory and an English hymn at the end of the mass.

Immediately preceding the mass in Marquette park, there will be a parade from the Old Mission church to the park. In the line of march will be the American Legion color guard of Thomas F. Grant Post, the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus of Marquette, the Holy Name Society and the Knights of Columbus of St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie, and the LaSalle high school band. The parade will be led by an escort of state troopers. The Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus will act as a guard of honor before the outdoor altar during the celebration of mass.

On Monday morning at 9 o'clock a Solemn High Mass of Requiem will be chanted for the deceased priests who labored in this parish since its beginning, and for the deceased parishioners. Other masses will be offered for the people of the parish and for the people of the city in general.

An outdoor public program will be presented at 8 o'clock Monday evening, on the platform in Marquette park. Guest speakers on this program will be the Honorable Frank J. Third Guard Added At Beach For Protection

As an added precaution and an attempt to prevent further unfortunate accidents at the local bathing beach, a third life guard has been assigned and restricted areas have been completely roped off.

DEADLINE EXTENDED

The deadline for entering the swimming meet which is to be held at the Ludington park beach at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, has been extended until today at noon.

Programs are to be made up Friday afternoon and swimmers who have not been registered will not appear on the programs.

At the beginning of the present swimming season, the department of parks and recreation added a guard and carefully marked restricted areas on the beach as protective measures for those who were poor swimmers or who could not swim. In spite of these precautions, two persons have lost their lives.

There are no sudden drops within the area surrounded by ropes and signs but the area directly around the diving board is deeper than a person's head in order that the diving board may be utilized. For that reason, only expert swimmers are allowed to enter the enclosure.

This year the number of life guards has been increased to three who are on duty full time from nine until dark, with the exception of lunch hours when two will constantly be on duty. When all three are on duty, they are assigned as follows: one in the guard's tower, one on shore, and one in the boat. One man is to be constantly on duty at the guard's tower. Exceptions to this rule will be made when no one is in the water or when the only bathers are participating in special instructions. At no time of the day will there be less than two guarding the swimmers.

The deep area around the diving board has always beeen marked by signs. In addition to these signs, the shallow area has been completly roped except for a narrow gateway leading to the diving platform. The rope also extends parallel to the beach, making a restricted area which small children and poor swimmers will be required to occupy.

Another ring buoy has been added, making two preservers near at hand in case of an emergency.

Questions and Answers on Railway Retirement Law

(The series of questions and answers on the Railway Retirement Act appearing below was compiled by the staff of the Railway Retirement Board to inform employees on the main points of the Act.)

Q. If I am in the service of a local lodge or division of a labor organization, which is an employer under the Act, under what conditions am I an employee under the Act?

A. Only if on or after August 29, 1935, you were in the service of or in an employment relation to a "carrier."

Q. Who are employee representatives under the Act?

A. Any officer or official representative of a railway labor organization, other than a labor organization which is an employer under the Act, who has been authorized to represent employees in accordance with the Railway Labor Act, and who was at some time before or after August 29, 1935, and prior to his employee representative service, in the service of an employer under the Act;and any individual who is regularly assigned to or regularly employed by such an employee representative in connection with the duties of his office.

Q. What is the difference between the 1935 and 1937 Acts with respect to employee representatives who are within the provisions of the Act?

A. The 1935 Act did not include the folowing individuals who are included in the 1937 Act: (1) individuals regularly employed by or regularly assigned to employee representatives for the performance of duties connected with the office of employee representative; (2) individuals who were not in the service of a carrier under the 1935 Act immediately before they began to serve as employee representatives. Individuals who were employee representatives under the 1935 Act but who are officially connected with a railway labor organization, national in scope, are, under the 1937 Act, "employees" of "employers" rather than employee representatives.

Q. Suppose I am general chairman of the X Railroad for the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, am I an employee representative under the 1937 Act?

A. No; you are an employee of an employer. Under the 1935 Act, you were an employee representative.

Q. Suppose I am chairman of a railway labor organization not national in scope, but I am duly authorized to represent employees in accordance with the Railway Labor Act, as amended, what is my status?

A. If you were, at some time prior to your designation as chairman, in the service of an employer under the Act, you would be an employee representative.

Q. If in the case described above and in answer thereto, I regularly employ a clerk to assist me in my duties, what is that clerk's status under the Act?

A. He is an employee representative.

Half-Year Plates Have Record Sale

Lansing, July 27. (AP)—Leon D. Case, secretary of state, reported today that 597,689 half-year auto license plates have been sold this year, compared to 437,924 half-year windshield stickers sold in the same period last year—an increase of almost 40 per cent.

Case said the use of metal plates instead of the stickers had increased sales of the half-year privilege because of their more attractive appearance and because they are accepted without question in states which do not have the half-year license plan.

FREE FERRIES URGED

Iron Mountain—Asserting that he favored free ferry service at the Straits and, if elected, would introduce a bill to that effect, Joseph P. Cloon, of Wakefield, candidate for the Republican nomination of state senator from the thirty-first senatorial district, visited in Iron Mountain today in the interests of his campaign.

Cloon said the ferries were the same as state highways and there should be no toll to use them.

The candidate also added that he believed there should be a decentralization of authority in Lansing, such as transferring more control over relief activities to the local communities, which are in better position to understand local needs.

Bishop to Be Celebrant At Church Ceremonies

On Sunday, August 7, a Solemn Pontifical High Mass of Thanksgiving, with the Most Rev. Joseph C. Plagens, D. D., Bishop of Marquette, as celebrant, will open the two-day observance of the centennial of St. Ignatius church, St. Ignace. Weather permitting, this mass will take place beside the grave of Father Marquette, on the spot, where for two years this celebrated missionary offered mass and preached to his Huron and Ottawa Indians over two and one-half centuries ago.

The original altar of the Old Mission church will be set up on a temporary platform for this outdoor mass. This altar, now in the winter chapel of the present church, is a highly prized relic of the handiwork of the pioneers who started this parish over a century ago. Fashioned and finished by hand out of rough-hewn lumber, it served its purpose in the old church for over sixty years, being then moved to the present church in 1905.

A unique distinction belonging to this parish is the century-old church building, the oldest Catholic church in Michigan, which is still kept in good repair and is being used as a parish center for meetings and social activities. Other relics of the early pioneer days are the old confessional, the vestment case, a chalice as old as the church, a crude device for making altar breads, various candelabra, and the famous painting of St. Ignatius Loyola, founder the Jesuits, who was chosen by Father Marquette as the patron saint of this church. This painting, according to local tradition, was brought to St. Ignace by Father Marquette, transferred to Detroit when the St. Ignace Mission was abandoned, and returned to St. Ignace when the present St. Ignatius parish was established in the fall of 1837. It is certain that it was placed over the high altar when the old church was opened at that time.

A large number of priests have signified their intention of coming to assist in carrying out the ceremonies of the Pontifical High Mass.

Among those who will be present are three monsignori of the diocese of Marquette: Rt. Rev. Henry A. Buchholtz, P. A., vical general; Rt. Rev. Anton J. Rezek, LL., D., and Rt. Rev. Raymond G. Jacques. Present also will be the Rev. Joseph L. Zyrd, D. D., J. C. D., chancellor of the diocese, and Father Frederick Siedenburg, S. J., executive dean of the University of Detroit, who will give the sermon. Father Siedenburg returned to Detroit some months ago after an extensive trip through Russia. He traveled throughout the industrial and rural sections of the Soviet republic and succeeded in keeping his identity a secret. Upon his return he compiled his observations in a very interesting and informative book entitled, "I Saw the Soviet."

Dr. J. Edward Gordon, organist of St. Patrick's church in Chicago, will direct the music and singing of this service. The singing will be done alternately by the senior choir of twenty voices, and a children's choir of one hundred voices, and the congregation. The children's choir will sing the Gloria in Excelsis from the Mass of the Angels, and the congregation will sing a Latin offertory and an English hymn at the end of the mass.

Immediately preceding the mass in Marquette park, there will be a parade from the Old Mission church to the park. In the line of march will be the American Legion color guard of Thomas F. Grant Post, the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus of Marquette, the Holy Name Society and the Knights of Columbus of St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie, and the LaSalle high school band. The parade will be led by an escort of state troopers. The Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus will act as a guard of honor before the outdoor altar during the celebration of mass.

On Monday morning at 9 o'clock a Solemn High Mass of Requiem will be chanted for the deceased priests who labored in this parish since its beginning, and for the deceased parishioners. Other masses will be offered for the people of the parish and for the people of the city in general.

An outdoor public program will be presented at 8 o'clock Monday evening, on the platform in Marquette park. Guest speakers on this program will be the Honorable Frank J. Murphy, Governor of Michigan; the Honorable Prentiss M. Brown, United States Senator from Michigan, and the Rt. Rev. Anton J. Rezek, LL. D., author of a two-volume history of the diocese of Marquette, from Father Marquette's time to the present day. The Rev. Leslie Williams, minister of the Methodist church, will be the local speaker, and the Honorable Edward M. Fenlon will be chairman. A specially prepared concert will be given by the LaSalle high school band.

A public address amplifying system will be installed for the Sunday morning and Monday evening programs, which will be capable of carrying the speakers' words to an audience of several thousand. To both programs the general public is cordially invited.

Hunting for Gold In the Andes

DOUBTLESS the Indians of Ecuador panned for gold in the richer streams of the Andes long before Pizarro came to conquest. Gold was not then used commercially, but for adornment, and the Incas often directed large bodies of laborers to mine under state orders.

The Zaruma mines were first visited by the Spaniards in 1549, when Captain Mercadillo ascended the Tumbez river. That same year the towns of Zaruma and Zamora were founded. In 1541 other gold mines had been discovered on the Chinchipe river. Later a gold rush was started on the Paute and Upano rivers. But in 1599 the Indians rebelled and destroyed these centers. Since, these mines have been restored to active production.

Today gold mining is still not a major industry in Ecuador, but the nation is known to be rich in undeveloped minerals. Oil is also assuming increasing importance. Foreign interests are taking new appraisal of the mining resources. Some predict a resurgence of activity. It is believed that the great deposits of copper, lead, coal, silver, gold and minerals generally found in the Andean chain are also buried in Ecuador. Shown here on a current Ecuadorean stamp is a placer miner.

Take Dining Room Outdoors

How about a picnic? Eating in the open is made more comfortable by this snack kit for eight, with its two 1-quart thermos bottles, 3 sandwich boxes and 8 bettleware cups, all packed neatly in the red, yellow or green handy carrier. (Photo courtesy Hammacher Schlemmer)

When the weather is close, spacious living is in order.

Better move your meals out of doors. The porch, the lawn or the balcony becomes the best place to eat. The wide open window of a city apartment calls the dining table to "come on over" when the evening is hot. Air on the table and simplicity in the meal is the order of the day.

The following recipes will combine into an easy-to-prepare and simple-to-serve al fresco meal.

Ham Loaf

One-half cup quick-cooking tapioca, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 pound lean ham, ground, 1 pound lean pork, ground, 2 cups milk.

Combine tapioca with remaining ingredients in order given. Bake in loaf pan in hot oven (450 deg. F.) for 15 minutes. Then decrease heat to moderate (350 deg. F.) and bake 45 minutes longer, or until done. Rub mixing bowl with garlic before mixing, if desired. Serve hot or cold.

Apricot Nut Loaf

Three cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons combination baking powder, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed, 1-2 cup finely broken walnut meats, 1 cup finely cut dried apricots, 1 egg well beaten, 1 cup milk, 4 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Add sugar and mix well. Then add walnut meats and apricots. Combine egg, milk and shortening. Add to flour mixture and blend.

Bake in greased loaf pan, 8 x 4 x 3 inches, in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 1 hour, or until done. Black walnut or pecan nuts may be used instead of English walnut meats.

Orange Cream

1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
1-3 cup cold water
2 cups granulated sugar
1 1-2 cups boiling water
1 1-2 cups orange juice
1-3 cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 egg yolks
2 egg whites beaten
2 cups cream
1-4 teaspoon salt

Soak gelatin for five minutes in the cold water. Dissolve in the sugar which has been mixed with the boiling water. Cool. Add juices and rinds. Pour into a sterilized freezer and when half-frozen, add the rest of the ingredients. Freeze until stiff.

This cream may also be frozen in a mechanical refrigerator. (Beat at thirty-minute intervals during first one and half hours.) About four and one half hours will be necessary for the cream to freeze stiff enough for serving.

In 1891, Congress appropriated $10,000 for bombarding the clouds with cannon shot, in an effort to bring rain.

Berry Tarts

1 cup flour
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup lard
2 tablespoons cold water
Mix together the flour and salt

Cut in the lard. Slowly add the water. Break off one-third of the dough and roll it out until it is very thin. Cut into half-inch strips. Roll out the rest of the dough and fit it into two individual pie pans. Fill with berries. Place pastry strips, criss-cross fashion, on top. Bake for 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve warm or cold.

Berries

1 1-2 cups berries
2 tablespoons flour
1-2 cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Mix ingredients and fill pastry cases.

George Is Sought In Escanaba!

Long Series of Charges Faces Elusive Individual with Weakness for Fine Food.

The question on everyone's tongue today is "Where's George?" Nobody knows anything about him and no one has ever seen him, but every one is looking for him.

All the legends once attached to One-Eyed Connelly and Paul Bunyon, with a lot more that are essentially his own are attributed to George. He's everywhere, but he has a knack of effacing himself from the most embarrassing situations. It is his quick and mysterious getaway that has put all Escanaba on a man hunt for George.

George is wanted for leaving a farmer's daughter with a broken heart, for resisting arrest, for leaving a chain gang flat, for wife desertion, for a hundred other alleged escapes, yet he always manages in his own adroit way to elude detection.

The only clue to George's whereabouts, so far as the Escanaba public can gather, is that this mysterious and elusive individual has has a weakness for fine food. Hotel Sherman reports that there is conclusive evidence of his having been in their Coffee Shop many times in the last few days, where he is alleged to have dined.

Further developments regarding his whereabouts and escapades will be announced weekly by The Sherman Hotel in this newspaper.

Canning Jars And Other Equipment Are Desired Now

Used Mason jars and other canning equipment are desired for the use of poor families in the rural communities, it was stated yesterday by Miss Marguerite Knauf, home management supervisor of the Farm Security Administration.

Persons having second-hand canning equipment which they would be willing to sell at a reasonable price are asked to communicate with Miss Knauf, whose office is in the Escanaba Motor company building, South Seventh street, Escanaba.

The annual Sunday School picnic of the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church will be held Sunday afternoon at Pioneer Trail park to which all are cordially invited. A short service will be held at the park at two o'clock. The sermon theme will be: "The Greatness of God and the Importance of Man." The Sunday School children will also have a part in the service.

The services at the church Sunday morning will begin at ten o'clock, to allow enough time to attend the outing at the park. Rev. Lund will speak in the morning in the English language on: "The Great Store House of God." The Junior choir will sing. A kindly invitation is extended to all.

Marketing Tips To Housewives

Prepared by Escanaba Consumers' Market Report Committee.

Market Highlights

New local fruits and vegetables: beets, carrots, peas, beans, raspberries, blueberries, currants.

The lettuce market is steady.

New potatoes remain low priced.

New items now being sold at the fruit markets are apples, peaches, pears, California apricots and plums, honey dew melons, cantaloupes, seedless grapes and watermelons.

Meats

The market on good cattle has advanced in the past week and prices on good quality beef will be higher.

Pork prices are stronger and cuts from light weight fancy hogs will be higher this week.

Lambs are plentiful and thrifty shoppers should not neglect them in planning the menu for Sunday dinner.

Veal prices are about the same.

Cold meat and sausage specialty items make economical meals.

Fit Kitchen Equipment to User

Important in the utility of kitchen equipment is the ease and convenience it affords the user. Correct working heights for sink, tub and work tables or counters eliminate much necessary stooping and reaching. Toe space at the base of equipment where one naturally stands to perform tasks and knee space where work may be done sitting is essential, too.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

When a 63-year-old man marries a 16-year old girl you rather expect the marriage to be run his way—especially when the bridegroom has had 28 years of married life for reference.

But you change your mind after talking to the much photographed Herbert Boutall of Athol, Mass., and his wife, Ann May, who is young enough to be his granddaughter. The stir their marriage created—thousands crowded outside the church, and New York news photographers snapped pictures as the husband signed the Hotel New Yorker register—hasn't parred the complacency of the two who admit their May-December romance is a little unusual, but act as though it is the most natural thing in the world.

Without hesitation they answer the regulation Bride-Groom questions.

"Who is going to be head of the family?"

Bride, quickly, "I am going to be head of the house."

"Will you raise any objections if your husband asks for one night out a week?"

Bride: "It depends on how he wants to spend it. I didn't want him to go to a bachelor dinner his friends planned for him before we were married."

"Did he go?"

Groom, proudly: "No. I got out of it."

"Do you think the husband or wife should have the final word in matters concerning the rearing of children?"

Groom: "The wife should. She usually knows more about things like that than a man. And she can almost always see further ahead."

"Winters are cold in your country. Whose job is it going to be to get up in the morning and build the fire?"

Groom: "That's the man's job. And so is washing clothes, if one or the other has to do it. Scrubbing floors isn't a woman's work, either. A man ought to do these things, if he can't hire it done. Doing heavy work is what makes old women out of farm women long before city women quit looking like girls."

* * *

"Who is going to manage the family finances?"

Groom: "My wife. We get our living off the farm and the money I earn at my job is so much velvet. She'll take care of that."

"Will you let your wife have a career if she should decide she wants one?"

Groom: "I wouldn't want her to. Careers don't make women happy. But my wife is too young to have given it a thought. She's only a little girl—barely sixteen."

"But she is old enough to undertake marriage. Do you believe a career takes more maturity than marriage?"

Groom: "I admit she's awfully young to be a wife, but I was living alone and needed a wife."

Bride: "I knew four months ago that I was in love with Herbert. I knew, too, that I wasn't going to let any other woman get him."

Yes, you change your mind about who has the say-so in these May-December marriages.

Can Britain Come to Terms With Adolf Hitler?

H. V. Kaltenborn

The somewhat ingenuous action of Adolf Hitler in sending a personal emissary to say to London "Me, too," while the British King and Queen were cementing the Anglo-French alliance in Paris raises an important question. Can there be genuine understanding between Great Britain and the Third Reich in the present stage of the latter's development? The Hitler Government came into power by a mixture of legal and extra-legal means. Like the Fascist Government of Italy, it represents a genuine revolution although its advent to power was without bloodshed. Has the German revolution developed to that stage where those conducting it can join an alliance whose purpose is peace and not war?

Fundamentally dictators make war not peace. They can only justify their harsh control, to a people that has known some measure of freedom, by pointing to dangerous enemies within and without. Once those within the country have been tamed it is the menacing foreigner who makes it necessary to sacrifice all freedom and material substance to the cause of fatherland defense. When a dictator comes to an understanding with some other dictator it is never to promote the cause of peace but to resist a common enemy. From Adolf Hitler's point of view the chief enemy to the peace of the world is Soviet Russia; hence the anti-Communist pact with Japan and Italy. The Rome-Berlin axis is only an answer to the Moscow-Paris axis.

Hitler himself has said in "Mein Kampf," which continues to be described as the guiding star of Nazi policy, "an alliance whose aim does not comprise the intention of war is senseless and worthless." Adolf Hitler's purpose, frequently avowed and often illustrated in action, is to secure political and territorial advantage for the German Reich by the use of threats or force. He has used that policy with outstanding success in his illegal seizure of complete power in Germany, in the occupation of the Rhineland and in the forcible seizure of Austria. He is now applying the same methods in an endeavor to annex the German parts of Czechoslovakia.

• • •

For five years Britain has sought to persuade Adolf Hitler to gentler ways. From the first the Nazi Government has courted Britain in response to the Hitler policy of making alliances with both Britain and Italy in order to wage war successfully against Russia and France, the policy which he outlines in "Mein Kampf" with childlike directness and simplicity. As good realists in foreign affairs, the British have always responded in kind to friendly overtures from Herr Hitler. They have said to one another: "Of course he doesn't mean it the way we do, and probably nothing will come of it. But let's play along with him. After all, you never can tell about these mystics. Perhaps he's had an inner conversion."

That explains the friendly reception which Prime Minister Chamberlain and Lord Halifax, Britain's Minister of Foreign Affairs, gave to Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, Adolf Hitler's personal adjutant, when he arrived in London shortly before Lord Halifax left for Paris. We are told that everything went nicely in the conversation until it proceeded from generalities to particulars. When Captain Wiedemann suggested that Britain use her influence in Prague to persuade the Czechs to give up their alliance with Soviet Russia, Lord Halifax remained silent. When Lord Halifax suggested that Germany could show her good intentions by cooperating in the solution of the refugee problem, Captain Wiedemann remained silent.

It is obvious that neither France nor Czechoslovakia could think of giving up their military understandings with Soviet Russia at this time. And not even a Chamberlain Government, whose very life may be determined by the as-yet-ineffective Anglo-Italian Pact, will sacrifice an alliance with France to the blandishments of Hitler. That was made clear in Paris this week.

From the day he assumed power Hitler has talked peace and acted war. What a man does is more important than what he says. Each time the Nazi regime has felt the increasing isolation of Germany as the result of its aggressive policy it has spoken softly in an effort to conciliate French and British opinion. Both countries have always been ready to listen but have always been disappointed because deed failed to follow word.

• • •

When Hitler launched his 13-point program of foreign policy in his so-called peace speech of May 21, 1935, which followed his treaty violation in restoring conscription, Britain immediately reacted by signing a Naval Convention with Germany in which the Nazis agreed to be content with a navy one-third the size of Britain's. When in March, 1936, Germany denounced the Locarno Treaty and Hitler sought to mollify foreign opinion by making another peace speech while his troops marched into the Rhineland, Britain again responded by asking Herr Hitler to say just what he meant by certain vague phrases. The phrases remain vague, Britain's questions remain unanswered.

In view of what has happened in the past, cynical observers will attribute Hitler's present move to increasing economic weakness and the desire to create a rift between Britain and France. Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain will do well to remember what another member of his famous family, Sir Austen Chamberlain, said to the House of Commons when he addressed it on April 13, 1933: "Germany is afflicted by this narrow, exclusive, aggressive spirit, where it is a crime to be in favor of peace and a crime to be a Jew. This is not a Germany to which we can afford to make concessions."

That was true five years ago soon after Hitler came to power. It remains true today.

MYSTERY AT THE LAZY R

BY CLARKE NEWLON

COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

NIKKI JEROME, heroine; blond, popular, is engaged to six-foot, black-haired

STEVE MALLORY, hero; who is accompanying her on a trip to Nikki's aunt and uncle on a Wyoming dude ranch. Nikki's father,

PETER JEROME, is a wealthy New York jewel merchant.

* * *

Yesterday: Nikki and her uncle and Steve are to take a mountain trip and Sarto, Bancroft and Fiske decide to go too!

CHAPTER VII

They took the trail just as the sun broke in dawn and sent its first warming rays into the mists that formed a soft, white cloak over the hills toward which they rode in pairs, conversing and adjusting their bodies to the gaits of the fast-walking animals.

Nikki rode with Steve and realized, in the grandeur of the breaking dawn, that she loved this man very much and that she was being distinctly unfair to him. Anything might happen on this trip, she thought, and decided to tell Steve about Bancroft and the money at the first opportunity. In the meantime she rode beside him in silence and told him with her eyes that she loved him greatly.

Long before they stopped to eat the sandwiches that had been prepared and to boil coffee over a tiny fire, the trail started upward and became more and more rocky. Once they crossed a dry river bed that was a tremendous trail of boulders walled in on either side by cliffs along which the seams and formations traced irregular patterns.

Their pause for lunch was brief for Uncle Jim wanted to reach the cabin before dark and the worst of the trail lay yet ahead. As they started out again he arranged them in single file and warned each rider against trying to pass another or of getting too close on the trail.

Rance led the way, followed by Nikki, Uncle Jim, Fiske, Sarto, Steve, Bancroft, and Woody, who brought up the rear to keep any of the little party from straggling too far back.

The trip appeared to be a hardship for Sarto alone. He was distinctly not an outdoor man and nature to him meant taking a taxi through Central Park—when it was the shortest route to his destination. He clung to his saddle as the trail narrowed and hunched disconsolately in his seat, scowling silently. The pack trip was obviously not of his choosing.

* * *

The trail wound along the side of a cliff, tortuous and rocky. On the inside rose the sheer walls of stone, washed clean by centuries of mountain storms, marked with the oddly colored lines of capricious reds and blacks against the brown. On the other side, along most of the slender path, the mountain sloped off steeply but not dangerously. A daring horseman could have ridden down the side had he chosen. It was dotted with clumps of low-growing bushes and trees that clustered courageously in the soil around the boulders.

But in spots the violent torrents of the spring thaws had burst over the trail and rushed down the mountain side in foaming white cascades, stripping the slope of its bushes, stunted trees, and boulders, transforming the decline into a sudden, breath-taking drop that might be 50 or might be 200 feet straight down before the break ended in a rough bed of granite.

They had been on that upward trail several hours when it happened. Nikki was watching her horse stepping carefully at the heels of Rance's mount. Behind her Uncle Jim hummed a monotonous little song and paid small attention to a trail that was long familiar to him.

Behind her uncle came Fiske, quiet and observant, and back of him rode the glowering Sarto. They were passing one of the sections of the trail narrowed by the snow-laden torrents and the path hung precipitously over awesome nothingness on the right. There wasn't over 20 feet of danger and then the trail widened and fell off into gradual sloping ground again.

* * *

Nikki heard a sudden frightened yell and turned to see Sarto's horse plunging forward, hugging the inner wall. Sarto clung to the pommel, his head ducked forward into the steed's mane.

The quick lunge carried Sarto's horse crowding between the wall and the mare ridden by Fiske.

The mare fought desperately for balance. Her iron-shod hoofs struck sparks as she slipped on the edge of the trail.

"Throw yourself off," shouted Uncle Jim, twisting in his saddle, helpless to aid.

There was only an instant as the mare hung on the brink. Fiske leaned desperately to throw his weight inward. Sarto's horse surged forward again in frightened leaps and broke through.

Steve, riding directly behind Sarto, reined in his horse abruptly at Sarto's unexpected lunge. He could see the quick, deadly drop off the trail, the narrow path upon which two horses could not stand side by side. He could see just ahead the safety of the sloping mountain with its dotting shrubs and small trees.

That safety lay a bare seven feet ahead of Fiske.

The final plunge of Sarto's horse thrust Fiske's mare far out on the edge. One hind foot slipped over and pawed into the thin air. She fought and lost the battle for balance.

Then Steve moved. With the sudden skill of years of polo playing, he turned his horse to the out side of the trail. He leaned forward and brought his flat hand down brutally hard on his mount's rump.

His horse bounded forward and struck Fiske's mare almost as she slipped off the trail. The momentum of the blow carried the mare forward and in. She was safe. So was Fiske. But the motion threw Steve's horse to the outer edge, fighting for footing on the last few feet of the trail which overhung the precipice.

* * *

Steve lost his balance and plunged over his mount's shoulder, but the force of the fall carried him past the precipice. He grabbed a clump of bushes as he slipped downward and clung on desperately. His horse scrambled forward, lost its footing, rolled over twice and finally stopped against a tree, got up and shook itself vigorously.

Uncle Jim was off his horse by that time with a rope in his hand. He tossed the noose down to Steve, snubbed the other end around his saddle horn.

"Slip it over your arms," he shouted, and Steve managed to find footing long enough to get the noose over his head and shoulders. Rance and Uncle Jim hauled him back up.

Sarto still sat his horse sullenly. Fiske was leaning against the wall. He came over to give Steve the final helping hand back up on the trail.

"Thanks," he said, and his voice meant it.

"That was mightly quick thinking," said Uncle Jim.

"Mighty quick acting, too," said Rance.

Nikki was standing back, her face white, and she couldn't get over the feeling that her knees weren't going to support her much longer. Steve came over and she clung to him.

"I'm all right, honey," he told her and laughed gently.

"I know you are now," she said, "but you weren't a minute ago and you might have been killed. Oh, Steve."

ONLY 2 FOREST FIRES REPORTED

Campers Being Careful, Conservation Men Report

Only two forest fires, burning in all only 10½ acres, have been reported is this district by the conservation department this year. Greater care on the part of campers and sportsmen as well as more precipitation than in previous years is responsible for the improvement.

A fire which burned over 10 acres near Smith Creek on June 21 and a half-acre fire two miles south of Cooks July 22 are the only fires reported here on state lands this season.

A horde of blueberry pickers are on the berry plains this season but the pickers have used considerable care with campfires and lighted cigarettes.

A light fire season also was experienced last summer but in 1936 thousands of acres in Schoolcraft county were burned over in one of the worst droughts in years.

Conditions for the prevention of forest fires continued excellent yesterday. Visibility from the fire towers was excellent and the humidity was high.

PAVING JOB IS PROMISED HERE

Concrete Slab In City Will Be Laid Next Spring

The delegation of city and county officials returned from Lansing Wednesday afternoon with an announcement that the state highway department has made a definite commitment to pave US-2 within the city limits of Manistique from the Inland office at the intersection of Maple and Elk streets to the intersection of Chippewa avenue and Deer street early next year.

The commitment also included a promise that the highway department would lay, not only a 20-foot slab, but would pave the entire 42-foot width at state expense. The city had planned to get the highway department to lay a center slab, and the city then would pay the cost of flanking this slab to make a 42-foot roadbed. The highway department further agreed to include the laying of curb in their project.

It was the hope of the local delegation that the pavement could be laid this summer and fall, but state highway officials reported that the project would be impossible this season.

Considerable underground work must be done before a concrete pavement could be laid along this route. The expense of this work must be borne by the city.

The city proposes to file a work relief project, either with the Public Works Administration or the Works Progress Administration, to have the underground work done this winter. The state then will let contract for grading and paving during the winter, and the project will be completed before the tourist season begins next summer.

Road Commission Has Fine Record In Safety Work

The Schoolcraft county road commission is making an enviable record in the promotion of safety and has received congratulations from the Employers Mutual for its safety record during the past few years.

The road commission has had no lost time accidents nor property damage claims during the past three years, a record which speakes very highly for the personnel.

A letter from the branch manager of the Employers Mutual reveals the fact that a few years ago the Schoolcraft county road commission was forced to pay 32 per cent above regular rates for insurance protection but the latest promulgation by the Michigan Bureau entitles the commission to rate 29.3 per cent below the standard basis.

This substantial reduction has been made possible by virtue of the fine safety record enjoyed by the commission personnel.

COMMUNICATION

MRS. BYERS WRITES

Dear Press Readers:

Well, your roving correspondent had a rather unpleasant experience on Sunday as an introduction to California. I was taken down to Malibu beach to view the ocean and what a beautiful place it is. Mile after mile of sand and rock and literally thousands in the water and on the sand enjoying the monstrous breakers as they rolled in . Both men and children riding old tires through the waves and glorying in the salt water and God's sunshine.

Viewed the remains of the movie colony homes that were burned last year and saw where the mountain keeps sliding.

Just before we started home at Malibu beach I noticed a stand where they were selling smoked barracuda and tuna fish. As I had never tasted it we bought a pound and brought it home, where my son Nile, his wife Violet, and three children besides myself partook of this dainty for a light lunch. Immediately after my son went to church, the children were put to bed and Violet and I sat and visited when suddenly we were both stricken with nausea and between us we were busy with this terrible sickness, when in walked my son, who had been stricken in church the same way. A neighbor came in and then notified the Health department. A police ambulance came and took us to the Georgia Street receiving hospital. The man that drove the ambulance was new at the work and on the way to the hospital he god lost twice and as the streets in this city are mostly on the sides of mountains and I was lying down a part of the time I was riding practically standing on my head, and this did not help my sickness. At the receiving hospital we were given first aid and then the ambulance came again with the children, who had been stricken just after we left, but they were not bad and by morning they were taken back home, but my daughter-in-law and myself were transferred to the City General hospital and further treated and we got better. Still a little shaky but expect to see more of this California in a few days. We found out that one hundred and sixty-five others were poisoned in the same way on the same day.

We were very nicely taken care of and I will say California does try to look out for and do what can be done for anyone who is unfortunate enough to run into such trouble.

The way out here is grand except crossing the 600 miles of desert and in my imagination, I wondered how the old prospectors ever stood the grinding sun and the endless sand and cacti that they had to cross to get to their destination, and now cars practically fly over this area.

Saw a few gila monsters and sand lizards and viewed the Bonanza gold mine and oil wells a-plenty.

Houses in this town are perched precariously on the sides of the mountains wherever they can get a toe-hold and the same street will run in several directions. From my son's front porch we can see Mount Wilson and the Observatory and from my bedroom window I can see the Pacific twenty miles away. The front of the house is 25 steps lower than the street and from the back you gaze down about a thousand feet to the street below. At night we have one glorious vista of the whole city and surrounding mountains.

Fruit is just too terribly cheap here, but meat is high. Rents are not nearly as bad as one is led to believe and you can get all the ocean bathing you care to indulge in and a wonderful tan in the sunshine.

Will write more later.

Your roving Correspondent,
Charlotte A. Byers,
1917 Lemoyne St.
Los Angeles, Calif.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, July 28 (AP)—Motor stocks provided rallying power for today's market and leading issues on average got back nearly half their losses in Wednesday's slide.

Overnight selling orders dented the list slightly at the opening, but buying in the automotive group, in response to the better than expected earnings statements of General Motors and Chrysler, soon put prices on the upgrade.

There were several recessionary intervals, however, and dealings were exceptionally slow throughout the greater part of the proceedings. Quotations were around their best in the final hour, when activity picked up a bit. Gains ranged from fractions to 2 points, with a few of 3 to 4 in evidence.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was up .7 of a point at 49.5 against a drop yesterday of 1.5, the sharpest since last March. Transfers totalled 1,065,630 shares compared with 1,973,440 the day before.

Steels did fairly well after a hesitant start although question marks still surrounded this industry in the shape of wages and orders. The Bethlehem board, after the close, revealed a sizeable drop in second quarter net earnings from the first quarter. The figure of around $150,000 compared with more than $10,000,000 in the 1937 period. President Grace was none too cheerful, saying current business was insufficient to support the present production rate, and that wages would have to come down or prices go up. The directors voted regular dividends on the company's preferred issues. The common stock slipped near the finish of trading, but ended up ¼ of a point at 59. On only single sales of each, the 7 percent preferred was off 7-8 at 97 and the 5 percent issue was down ¼ at 15 5-8.

U. S. Steel was ahead 1½ at 60½.

Many traders, caught in yesterday's tumble, were reluctant to reembark pending a possible secondary reaction. The shake-out of the preceding session, though, was viewed generally in Wall Street as salutary and mainly of a technical nature due to the lengthy advance. Business news, on the whole, was in favor of the recovery forces.

Although last week's freight loadings were expected to have decreased from the previous week because of slackening grain hauling, Wall Street predictions shipments would reach a peak of 700,000 weekly in October put steam in carrier stocks and bonds. Coppers did well as the export price continued to hold well above the 10-cent level. Mail orders, farm implements, rubbers and specialties were in the forefront of the comeback.

Prominent on the advance, in addition to the major motor shares, were Yellow Truck, Briggs Mfg., Studebaker, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Allis Chalmers, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, Kennecott, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Philip Morris, National Cash Register, Loew's, Great Northern, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific and Commercial Solvents.

Commodities lacked rising vigor. Wheat at Chicago was unchanged to off ½ cent a bushel and corn was down 3-8 to ¾. Cotton yielded 45 to 55 cents a bale. The British pound and French franc were lower in terms of the dollar. Foreign securities markets weer a trifle shaky.

On the curb Aluminum of America was up 6½ points at 107. Lesser improvement was recorded for American Cyanamid "B," Lake Shore Mines, Humble Oil, Newmont Mining and Sherwin Williams. Sales were around 130,000 shares against 245,000 Wednesday.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, July 28 (AP)—Late downturns of wheat prices today more than offset earlier fractional gains that resulted largely from unfavorable conditions for spring crops, United States and Canadian.

Increased selling which developed near the end of the day was associated with the domestic new crop movement, especially in winter wheat areas. Southwest receipts today totalled 967 cars, against 857 a week ago.

On the other hand, buying for houses with export connections accompanied the upward market trend that was apparent most of the time. Unconfirmed rumors persisted that 14 cargoes of United States wheat had been sold of late for export, to Spain and Germany in particular.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to ½ cent lower compared with yesterday's finish, September 67 7-8 to 68, December 69 7-8 to 70, corn 3-8 to 3-4 down, September 57 to 57 1-8, December 54 3-8 to 54½, oats 1-8 to ¼ off, rye showing 1¼ to 1 3-4 drop, and provisions unchanged to 22 cents setback.

Warm, humid weather in American spring crop areas, suggested black rust damage. Canadian advices told of widespread urgent need of moisture. Some deterioration owing to drought was reported, especially in northern Saskatchewan, including the Peace River district. There was talk also that wheat production in the United States has been over-estimated, and that private experts would revise their figures downward next week.

Distant futures showed the most net loss in the Chicago wheat market, May finishing ½ cent down at 72½, the day's low point.

Corn and oats reflected smaller export inquiry for corn, together with beneficial rains. Augmented hedge selling nrothwest dominated the rye market.

Provisions went lower, sympathizing with hog values and with cottonseed oil.

New York, July 28 (AP)—A sizeable demand for railroad issues gave the bond market a recovery tinge today.

The news that Baltimore & Ohio railroad would meet its August 1 interest payments was greeted at the opening of trading with a lively interest in these liens, spreading to most of the carrier list in later trading.

The Associated Press average of 20 carrier liens advanced .6 to 61.6.

Utilities and industrials were steady. The average of 10 industrials was up .1 at 99.4 and the average of 10 utilities at 94.2 was .2 higher. Trading in these groups, however, was fairly light.

Foreign loans were narrow. The Associated Press average of 10 issues at 62.2 was .1 higher. On the first sale since the German seizure of Austria, lower Austria province 7½s were down 74 3-8 points at 24¼, on one transaction.

U. S. treasury loans were slightly higher, gains ranging from 1-32 to 3-32 in active issues.

Sales in all groups totalled $6,335,950, face value, against $8,092,850 Wednesday.

CRYSTAL FALLS NEXT ON SKED

Escanaba to Face George Honkala, New Hurling Star of League

Escanaba will travel to Crystal Falls, Niagara will go to South Range and Negaunee will meet the Twins at Kingsford in three Northern Michigan - Wiscinsin league games Sunday.

Niagara's invasion of South Range Sunday holds top spot in importance in the day's program. The Rangers are deadlocked in second place, with Crystal Falls, a half game behind the first half champions.

The Twins, resting in fifth place, are preparing for a desperate stand against Negaunee, their jinx, which hopes to drag the Fords down into a cellar tie.

Added Attraction

Escanaba, winner last Sunday over the Twins, expects to make plenty of trouble for Crystal Falls but has some apprehension about facing the Falls' new pitcher, George Honkala, 20-year-old Bessemer youth, who handcuffed the South Range sluggers with four-hit hurling last Sunday, Honkala is the likely Falls mound choice, although Manager Ed Burling can call on Hugh Orphan and his speedy though wild slants.

No changes in the Ford lineup is anticipated for Sunday, with Howard Veins expected to oppose Vance Hiney on the slab. Considerable interest is being aroused over an added attraction arranged for before the game. The Breitung "Longcoats" and Kingsford "Highpockets" tug-of-war teams, principals in a controversial match at the Kingsford July 4 celebration, will stage a pulloff. Each team consists of 10 huskies and a lot of grunting and sweating is promised before the championship is decided and various prizes awarded.

Slugging Red Sox Whip White Sox In 2 Games, 13-8, 8-5

Chicago, July 28. (AP)—Boston's Red Sox moved within two games of the second place Cleveland Indians today by slugging their way to a double victory over the Chicago White Sox, 13 to 8 and 8 to 5.

Boston won the first game, a battle of base hits, by scoring five times in the eighth inning and then five more in the tenth after the White Sox had tied it. Jimmy Foxx, Ben Chapman and Joe Cronin of Boston and Boze Berger of Chicago hit home runs. It was Foxx' 28th of the season.

Boston piled up 17 hits off three White Sox pitchers while Chicago nicked four Red Sox twirlers for 13 safeties.

In the second game, the Red Sox knocked Johnny Whitehead out of the box in the third inning and piled up a 7 to 1 lead that Chicago could not overcome. Jimmy Dyckes hit a home run.

Scores by innings:

First game—

Boston - 100 100 051 5—13 17 0
Chicago - 200 210 021 0— 8 13 0

Two-Base Hit With Bases Loaded Gives Reds 4-2 Decision

Boston, July 28. (AP)—Linus Frey's two-base smash with the bases full in the fourth inning today gave the Cincinnati Reds a 4 to 2 victory over the Boston Bees and an even break in the current four-game series. Frey's hit scored three mates and spoiled Robby Reis' first start on the mound for Boston.

Reis was stingy in the pinches, except in the fourth, when he gave up four hits in a row. He walked five men in the first three innings, but pulled out. It was Peaches Davis' sixth victory against as many losses.

Score by innings:

Cincinnati - 000 300 001—4 10 0
Boston --- 000 000 020—2 9 2

Old Timers Bemoan The Fact That Baseball No Longer Has Science With The Advent Of The Lively Ball In The Majors

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

Babe Ruth revolutionized baseball with a new and fabulous era of power hitting.

The customers wanted home runs, and the owners enabled rather mediocre hitters to supply them by hopping up the ball.

The game prospered beyond the wildest dreams of those at its head, but a good share of the trade has grown tired of circuit clouts that have become commonplace. The trend definitely is back to the good old days.

Big Ed Walsh pleads for the return of baseball to the ball player. The immortal right-hander of the old Chicago White Sox says that there is little real infield play today . . . that in the case of the infielder it's either you do or you don't. Certainly, it is true that the pellet is rifled through the infield so fast that there is more outfield play than in the days of the deader sphere.

Infielders like Charley Gehringer of the Detroit Tigers, Frank Crosetti and Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees, Don Heffner of the St. Louis Browns, Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Billy Jurges and Billy Herman of the Chicago Cubs, Pep Young of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Rabbit Warstler of the Boston Bees, Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox, and Dick Bartell of the Giants can be depended upon to make the right play when they get their hands on the ball.

• • •

BALL MAKES INFIELD PLAY MATTER OF FACT

They have the diamond sense, speed of foot, and throwing arms to carry out clever infield play, but the lively ball makes the best part of it matter of fact.

The speed with which they get the ball generally gives them ample time to make a play. A less lively sphere would be fielded by infielders oftener. It would provide closer plays . . . more hairline decisions.

Tris Speaker, famous outfielder and manager, still contends that outfielders play too deep . . . that a ball hit over their heads is going to hit the fence anyway, and that too many fly balls drop safely in back of the infielders. But I don't know a single major league pilot who doesn't say that Speaker is wrong . . . that the game has changed since his day.

Few of the current retrievers can turn their backs to the grandstand, charge back after a ball, and turn to catch it at precisely the correct instant as did Speaker, but the theory today is to hold the hitter to a single instead of allowing him two bases on a ball that cannot be caught in the outfield with a reasonable amount of trouble.

• • •

PERCENTAGE NOW IS IN BATTING RUNNER AROUND

Certainly, the flychasers of today have to play too far back to make the diving and shoestring catches that once enlivened the proceedings.

The hopped-up sphere would curb the baserunning of even the masterful Tyrus Raymond Cobb, which wrecked great clubs, for the percentage now is in hitting the runner around.

Pie Traynor, a grand baserunner in his heyday, asserts that he was amazed to see Tuck Stainback of the Dodgers steal third base at Forbes Field the other afternoon. Although it formerly was considered easier to swipe third base than second with a right-handed batter up, it was the first time in years that the Pirate foreman had seen the feat performed.

Eyes popped from old-timers' heads in Cleveland this season when Gehringer purloined third base in a clutch. The thing seemed to be positively old-fashioned. Ben Chapman stole home on Carl Fischer's windup in Clevealnd last season, and Steve O'Neill returned the southpaw to the Double A's the following day.

SCORING FROM THIRD AFTER OUTFIELD FLY AUTOMATIC

Chapman, now of the Red Sox, probably is the fastest man in the majors and one of the game's finest base-runners. He stole 61 bases as a Yankee in 1931, but the club was going nowhere that season and he was permitted to run from the showmanship angle. The lively ball gives the attack such a bulge that it doesn't pay to take too many chances on the paths.

Joe Di Maggio of the Yankees throws with the best of all time, but with the rabbit ball in vogue it is taken for granted that a runner on third base will score after an outfield fly is caught. Such wasn't the case when the deader ball was in use, and when it was propelled by the strong and accurate arms that dangled from the shoulders of such as Speaker, Duffy Lewis, Joe Birmingham, and Happy Felsch.

You seldom see a batter sacrifice nowadays unless a club is seeking to tie the score in late innigs.

What's the use of fooling around when the ball is so easily shot through the infield, up against the wall, or out of the park?

In 1868, Thomas Cahone, an employe of the Union Pacific railroad, pierced by eight Sioux Indians arrows and scalped, was back at work within a few months.

Outfielders now have to play too deep to make diving catches such as the one being made by Pepper Martin, upper left, of the St. Louis Cardinals. Leo Durocher, lower left, of the Brooklyn Dodgers can be counted upon to make the right play when he gets his hands on the ball, but more often than not the pellet is rifled past infielders nowadays. Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox is sacrificing, top center, but until late innings the percentage now is in hitting base-runners around. Ben Chapman of the Boston Red Sox diving feet first into second base, left center, probably is the fastest man in the majors and one of baseball's finest base-runners, but the lively ball gives the attack such a bulge that it doesn't pay to take too many chances on the paths. Joe DiMaggio, right, of the New York Yankees throws with the best of all time, but with the rabbit ball in vogue it is taken for granted that a runner on third base will score after an outfield fly is caught.

HUBBELL TURNS BACK CARDS, 2-1

King Carl Only Giant Pitcher To Go Route Since July 10

New York, July 28 (AP)—Old reliable Carl Hubbell put a stop to the Giants losing landslide today. He gave up seven hits, pitched shutout ball for eight innings and defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 2 to 1 to end the New Yorkers five game losing streak.

Hubbell, who has been the only Giant pitcher to go the route since July 10, turned in his 12th victory of the year in today's tilt. The win left the Giants five games behind the National league leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

Mel Ott's 22nd homer, in the second inning, and Bob Seeds' run-producing two-bagger in the third gave the Giants their two runs.

Postponed Tilts Give Harridge A Headache

BY EARL HILLIGAN

Chicago, July 28. (AP)—An unprecedented number of postponed games may mean a treat for the baseball fans who like their thrills in daily double doses, but it's a headache to William Harridge, American league president.

To date, the league is 39 games behind schedule, and Harridge is beginning to wonder if the weather man ever is going to behave long enough to allow his schedule arrangers to get caught up on rained out contests.

"I can't remember when we've had as many consecutive postponed contests," Harridge said. "For the first time in the history of the league the week of Aug. 22-28 will see five straight double headers in New York and five more in Philadelphia. It's the only way we can get them in. The Chicago White Sox themselves are now 17 games behind schedule and they'll have to play eight twin bills on the road and nine at home.

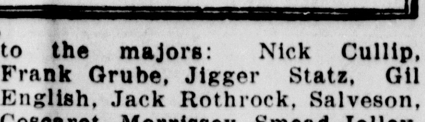
"There are thousands of fans who usually have to wait and pick out the days on which they can get two games for one price—but they won't have to wait this summer. There'll be so many twin bills coming up that it will be hard for fans to find single game days."

At one stage, this year, the league had 57 games to be rung in some place. Up to May 8 things went along fairly well and then came a spell from May 9 to 15 when the skies opened. Even those rained out games could have been easily handled had not last week's downpours occurred. Now the schedule has become so crowded that two White Sox games have been transferred to Boston and the Athletics are moving one game with the Tigers from Philadelphia to Detroit.

But what a bargain-counter spree the doubleheader fans are heading for! In New York, in one week, they can catch the Yankees and Indians in three straight twin bills and the White Sox and the Yankees in a pair of doubleheaders in five days. In Philadelphia the folks can watch the Tigers and A's play three straight two-in-one bills and the Browns and Athletics in a subsequent two-day twosome.

That is, if it doesn't rain.

SPILLING the DOPE



BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

It is interesting to run through the lineups of minor league teams these days and see the names of many old time big leaguers who are ending their careers . . . nearly every name brings back thoughts of some particular feat or feats for which its owner was famous . . . two of the most interesting are Schoolboy Rowe of the Tigers and Paul Dean of the Cards . . . these two promising youngsters met in that memorable world series game of several years ago . . . now both are in the Texas league trying to regain winning form after having their arms go back on them . . . these two manage to hook up in duels quite frequently in the minors . . . last week they faced each other, Rowe leaving in the sixth with a sore arm and Dean in the eleventh after the winning run had been scored against him.

—O—

The Texas league now harbors some of these former major leaguers: Scharein of St. Louis Browns, Lefty Brillheart of the Cubs and Cards, Connatser of Cleveland, Chad Kimsey of White Sox and Tigers, Uhle of Cleveland, Paul Easterling of the Tigers, Susce of the Tigers, Stephenson of the Cubs, Hillin of the Browns, Parker of the Tigers, Doljack and Marberry of the Tigers, and Levy of the Browns . . . incidentally, it appears that Firpo Marberry is slated as new manager of Fort Worth.

—O—

The Pacific coast league, long considered the final resting place of worn out majors, has turned to thoughts of developing younger stars . . . in spite of that fact, many of these names are familiar to the majors: Nick Cullip, Frank Grube, Jigger Statz, Gil English, Jack Rothrock, Salveson, Coscaret, Morrissey, Smead Jolley, Jackie Warner, Shanty Hogan, George Shores, Vergez, Freitas, Uhalt, Osborne, Ad Liska, Larry Woodall, Babich, Herrmann, Glenn Wright and Win Ballou . . . down in the Southern Association, we find such old timers as Pat Malone, Dale Alexander, Rog Hornsby, Sheriff Blake, Cy Moore, Clyde Barfoot, Freddie Sington, Crip Polli and many others . . . yea, verily, if you want to see the United States, take up professional baseball.

Yanks Hit Homers But Browns Take Ball Game, 4 to 3

St. Louis, July 28 (AP) — The Yankees did most of the homer-hitting, but the Browns won the ball game today, handing the New Yorkers a 4 to 3 defeat behind Oral Hildebrand's seven-hit pitching.

The defeat—only game the Yanks lost in the four-game series—shaved the New Yorkers' American league lead to one game over the Cleveland Indians, who were rained out.

All the Yankee runs came on homers. In the fourth, Joe DiMaggio walloped his 18th and Twinkletoes George Selkirk clouted his fourth. In the sixth, Lou Gehrig bounced his 17th off the top of the right field pavilion.

PITCHER BLOWS UP; PHILS LOSE

Pirates Score 7 Runs in Seventh Inning for 9 to 2 Victory

Philadelphia, July 28. (AP) — After holding the league-leading Pirates to one hit for six innings, Al Hollingsworth blew up today and Pittsburgh scored seven runs to beat the Phillies, 9 to 2.

With the Phils ahead, 2-1, through Spud Davis' single in the second and Chuck Klein's double in the fourth, Paul Waner started the Pirates' big seventh by getting a base on balls.

Suhr also walked Rizzo singled, scoring P. Waner with the tying run. Al Smith replaced Hollingsworth. Vaughan singled, filling the bases. Todd singled, scoring Suhr and Rizzo. Young walked, again filling the sacks. Tobin singled, scoring Vaughan and Todd. Johnson replaced Smith. Young scored after Handley's drive to Klein. L. Waner singled. Paul Waner singled, scoring Tobin with the seventh and last run of the inning.

Hollingsworth had the better of Jim Tobin in a pitching duel until he blew up. Tobin went on to hold the Phils to seven hits for his ninth victory.

Phil Weintraub, Phils' first sacker, was thrown out of the game in the second inning by umpire Goetz. Weintraub led off with an apparent double to right center, but was called out for not touching first. In a rage, Weintraub threw his cap and glove at the umpire.

Score by innings:

Pittsburgh -- 000 010 710—9 9 1
Philadelphia - 010 100 000—2 7 0

Arc Light Baseball Proves Big Success At Brooklyn Field

New York, July 28 (AP)—Baseball under the arc lights at Ebbets field is an estalbished success, Brooklyn Dodger officials agreed today as they scanned attendance figures for their first four night games.

The after-dark inaugural on June 15, when Johnny Vander Meer pitched his second straight no-hitter, drew 38,748 customers. After that came 25,511 for the June 21 game with Pittsburgh, 18,696 for the June 29 game with Boston, and 34,414 for last night's game with the Chicago Cubs, in which the Dodgers scored their first arc light victory since Boss Larry MacPhail introduced night baseball at Cincinnati four years ago.

The total of 117,369 for four games averages almost 30,000 per game. Club officials frankly admit that the same four games, played in the afternoon, would have drawn a total of no more than 35,000 fans.

SERIES CLOSED; ATHLETICS NEXT

Detroit Hammers Three Washington Pitchers In Clean Sweep

Detroit, July 28. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers won their fifth straight game today, hammering three Washington pitchers for a 12 to 4 victory and a clean sweep of the series.

George Gill went the route for Detroit, blanking the Senators until the eighth inning to gain his sixth victory of the season.

The Tigers blasted Jimmy Deshong, Senator's starting pitcher, for four runs in the first inning and chased him in the fourth, continuing the attack on Dutch Leonard with another four runs. Joe Krakauskas went to the mound in the fifth and, unaided by three Washington errors and a passed ball, let in three more runs with only one hit.

Deshong Abdicates

White opened the first-inning barrage with a single to center. Rogell walked and Gehringer singled to center, scoring White and placing Rogell on second. Travis threw out Greenberg but Fox walked to fill the bases. Rogell scored as Morgan forced Fox and Tebbetts got his first double of the day to bring home Gehringer and Morgan.

Tebbetts opened the second four-run spree of the game in the fourth inning when he doubled to left with one out. After Christman walked, Gill singled to center, scoring Tebbetts.

After walking White and filling the bases, Deshong abdicated in favor of Leonard, who began his term of service by offering up a double to Rogell which drove in Christman and Gill. Leonard gave Gehringer an intentional pass and Greenberg drove a long fly that scored White.

The three runs the Tigers scored in the fifth were presented with the compliments of the Senators. Morgan got on base when Travis fumbled his grounder and Tebbetts did likewise when he bounded to Lewis and Myer dropped the throw to second. A passed ball permitted the runners to advance and Christman walked, filling the bases.

Krakauskas Doubles

Gill followed with a bounder to Lewis, who threw wide to the plate permitting Morgan to score. Fox tried to score behind Morgan, but was thrown out. White then singled, scoring Christman and Gill.

Detroit got its final marker in the sixth on a pass to Gehringer, a double by Greenberg, and a wild pitch.

Krakauskas drove in the Griffs first run when he doubled to left center in the eighth after Giuliani singled. Their three runs in the ninth came on a double by Bonura, singles by West and Myer, and a double by Goose Goslin, who came up as a pinch hitter with two aboard.

The game ended the series with Washington. The Philadelphia Athletics will arrive here Friday to play four games in three days, a double header being scheduled Saturday.

JERSEY PICNIC PLANNED TODAY

Local Dairymen Will Gather at Barron Flat Rock Farm

Delta county's annual Jersey breeders' picnic will be held this afternoon at the Frank Barron farm, Flat Rock. Arthur Schubert of Chatham, state extension dairyman, will be one of the main speakers at the gathering. Entertainment will include a ball game and other attractions.

Two modern equipment features at the Barron farm expected to draw the interest of dairymen are the pen type barn and milking parlor recently installed by Mr. Barron. These will be open for inspection throughout the day.

Canadian Premier Abandons Air Tour To Vancouver, B. C.

Juneau, Alaska, July 28 (AP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario, found safe after his plane had been reported missing, today abandoned temporarily his air tour of the Dominion.

A report from Carcross, Y. T., where the premier and his party were forced down by stormy weather last night, said Hepburn had left for Skagway, Alaska, by train. At Skagway he will board the steamer Princess Alice tonight, bound for Vancouver, B. C.

The premier's plane took off late yesterday from Whitehorse for Juneau, about an hour's flight. Anxiety mounted as the hours passed with the party unreported.

Lack of communication facilities caused the delay in hearing of the landing at Carcross.

Word of the party's arrival halted plans for a widespread search by Canadian government agencies.

Bernard E. Smith, noted New York broker, one of Hepburn's companions on the 8,000 mile tour, accompanied the premier to Skagway. Jmp. Bickel, Toronto financier, and owner of the plane, remained at Carcross with Pilot Jimmy Towne.

HANGS IN WOODSHED

Hastings, Mich., July 28 (AP)—Mrs. Katherine Faul, 84, a pioneer resident of Barry county who had spent her entire life in the village of Woodland, was found hanging in a woodshed at her home tonight. Dr. Gordon Fisher, coroner, returned a verdict of suicide.

Desire For Health Aids Sweden's War On Social Diseases

This is the second and concluding article by Dr. Fishbein on the fight against venereal diseases in the Scandinavian countries.

* * *

BY MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Investigators from Great Britain found that in the smaller towns and in rural Scandinavian districts the free treatment of venereal diseases was being given by practicing doctors who were employed by the town, and that it was customary for municipal health officers to employ special health doctors for this purpose. Special fee tables were set up for such venereal disease treatment given to the poor. The state also paid the cost of all drugs and of the necessary Wassermann tests.

Under the Swedish system the patient with syphilis is almost always kept under treatment for three years, and three years is regarded as the period during which such a patient is eligible for free treatment.

As a result of these laws syphilis has decreased greatly in Sweden, dropping from 10 patients in each 10,000 people in 1919 to less than one person in each 10,000 in 1935.

* * *

In their investigation the British authorities found that the compulsory aspects of the law are not regarded with antagonism by the public, and that it is seldom necessary for extreme measures to be taken to bring patients for treatment or to retain them under treatment.

However, the British authorities also recognized that each of these countries is inhabited by a small homogenous race with a high degree of uniformity in customs and social outlook. The sense of communal responsibility is highly developed, and there is general respect for an obedience to authority. The people are in general health-conscious, so that co-operation between doctor and patient is easily established. It is important also to realize that in these countries the people have a realistic attitude toward sexual matters.

The British investigators were inclined to believe that the compulsory measures have played but a little part in the reduction of venereal disease in Scandinavian countries.

It is significant, the investigators find, that a reduction in syphilis has occurred in Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Holland, and Great Britain, but that in none of these countries has has there been outstanding success in affecting a reduction in the incidence of gonorrhea.

For this very reason the investigators from Great Britain are convinced that compulsory treatment does not seem to be a major factor influencing the results of the anti-venereal measures in the Scandinavian countries. Therefore, they do not recommend such compulsory measures for Great Britain.
